5 In Family Hurt When Tornado Levels Home

FREAK STORM RIPS THROUGH TWO COUNTIES

Couple and Three Sons Suffer From Cuts, Bruises; Boy Buried In Debris.

FARM BUILDINGS DAMAGED

High Wind Sweeps Richland and Crawford, Hits Other Sections of State.

Five members of a Crawford county family were injured and a number of homes and farm buildings were damaged shortly after noon Sunday when a freak tornado ripped through a small area of Crawford and Richland counties. At Cleveland a woman was blown from the porch at her home and fatally injured.

The storm, one of several which struck widely scattered sections of Ohio as winter returned with a vengeance, demolished the home of the Lloyd Harrison family near the Crawford-Morrow county line, two and a half miles southeast of Galion, burying a 15-year-old boy under debris and showering four others with bricks and timbers.

Suffer From Shock.

The injured were Harrison, the father, who suffered a severe head wound and internal injuries; his wife, who received a deep head cut, and their three sons, David, 15; John, 10, and Billy, a younger son, all of whom suffered from bruises and shock.

Striking the home about 12:30 p. m., the wind ripped the roof from the former brick school which had been converted into a home, and caved in the walls. The oldest son, David, was buried under the wreckage for several minutes, but was not seriously injured. He was extricated by members of the family and neighbors. Shelter for the stricken family was provided at the home of a neighbor. The injured were treated by a physician.

Moves Barn.

As the storm continued eastward it caused considerable damage to buildings on the C. P. Keller farm southwest of Ontario, moving the barn from its founda-

NEW PROTEST

U. S. Sends 2nd Note to Japs on Maritime Stand.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States has made new and more vigorous representations to Japan against any attempt by the Japanese military at Shanghai to disturb Chinese maritime customs.

This was disclosed today at the state department, where it was explained that the new American diplomatic move was in the form of a formal written presentation to the Japanese foreign office of views submitted earlier in an informal, oral manner.

The new representations were made at Tokyo by Ambassador Joseph C. Grew yesterday on instructions from the state department.

Famed Native Son to Speak at Grid Party

'Pete' Henry, Twice An All-American, To Address Tygers.

W. F. (PETE) HENRY

MANSFIELD'S most famous football son will be the principal speaker at the third annual News-Journal football banquet to be tendered the Mansfield high school squad of players, managers and coaches at the Mansfield-Leland hotel Wednesday, Dec. 15.

W. F. (Pete) Henry, one of the greatest of all-time gridiron greats, has been obtained by The News-Journal to follow Francis Schmidt of Ohio State and Bill Edwards of Western Reserve to the speaking pedestal at the annual "victory" dinner.

As great a player as ever wore a cleated shoe, Henry won All-America recognition in 1918 and 1919 for his spectacular play at a tackle position for the famous Washington & Jefferson teams of that period.

* * *

In addition to holding the distinction of being one of very few grid immortals to receive All-America honors twice, Henry, now director of athletics at his alma mater, has been popularly acclaimed as one of the all-time greats of the football sport.

The football genius of the age, Walter Camp, who honored Henry on two of his All-Americas, considered the Mansfield boy the greatest tackle in the history of the game.

Grantland Rice, Camp's successor as the selector of All Americas for Collier's magazine, placed Henry on his all-time All-America. Glenn (Pop) Warner of Temple, one of football's coaching aces, did likewise.

A native of this city, Henry, son of Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Henry of 8 North Adams street, captained the great Mansfield high school team of 1914 to clean

DIES 3 HOURS AFTER RESCUE

Boy Pulled From Stream and Resuscitated, Succumbs From Lung Congestion.

An eight-year-old boy who was pulled from Touby's Run Saturday afternoon and resuscitated by city firemen, died in the General hospital three hours later from a lung congestion.

Pasquel Castrataro, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dominick Castrataro, 249 West Sixth street, was playing with a group of children along the banks of the creek, when he slipped and fell into the icy water near the Baltimore & Ohio railroad bridge at the end of Sycamore street.

He was hauled from the creek by an unidentified man who waded into the water when he saw the child disappear over the bank.

Firemen of company No. 1, called to the scene by neighbors, worked over the boy with an inhalator furnished by the John S. Jones Funeral company. Breathing was established within a few minutes and the child was removed to the hospital. Three hours later he died.

County Coroner Hugh H. Winbigler said death was due to acute edema of the lungs.

Funeral services for the boy were held at 9:30 a. m. today at St. Peter's Catholic church with the Rev. R. C. Goebel officiating. Burial was in the Mansfield Catholic cemetery.

Surviving the child are his parents, a brother, Thomas, 4, and an infant sister, Mary.

Hippo Has A Baby

CINCINNATI — (AP) — The "no visitors" sign hung over Maudie's cage at the Cincinnati zoo today.

Maudie, a hippopotamus, gave birth Saturday to a 50-pound baby, 20 pounds above normal. She is in serious condition, said Sol Stephan, zoo superintendent.

The offspring lies in a pool of circulating warm water, shielded by canvas curtains.

PRINCE INJURED

Juliana's Husband Hurt as Auto Strikes Truck.

AMSTERDAM — (UP) — Prince Consort Bernhard Zu Lippe-Biesterfeld, husband of Crown Princess Juliana, was injured near here in an automobile accident today.

He received a slight concussion of the brain and though his condition was not considered critical, physicians maintained a constant watch over him at the nursing home where he was taken.

Police immediately telephoned Princess Juliana who is expecting a baby in January, and his mother-in-law, Queen Wilhelmina.

The prince was driving a small roadster and he crashed into the rear end of a truck loaded with sand. Authorities believed the prince's car skidded when he tried to avoid hitting the truck.

Sponsored by The News-Journal, Chamber of Commerce and the Retail Merchants' association, Wisehaupt's lectures at the high school will deal with the development of personality and its importance to success in business.

While designed to be of special value to business people, the talks will also be of interest to the general public. Tickets for the entire series may be obtained free of charge from The News-Journal, Chamber of Commerce, Retail Merchants' association or retail stores in the city.

ESCAPE FROM DORMITORY

Quartet From Dayton Breaks Window, Scales Fence to Gain Freedom.

Four Mansfield Reformatory inmates and a party of persons believed to have helped them stage a successful getaway Saturday night were being hunted today by police officers throughout Ohio.

Superintendent Arthur L. Glattke said the inmates broke out of a trusty dormitory by smashing a window, scaled a fence surrounding the building and fled toward state route 13, less than a city block away. All were sentenced from Dayton.

Find No Trace of Fugitives.

Posses of guards responding to an escape alarm within a few minutes after the quartet broke out found no trace of the fugitives after searching for several hours.

This and [illegible] L. Glattke to believe that "outside parties" aided the fugitives.

"The escape no doubt was prearranged. Friends of these inmates apparently had an automobile waiting to hurry them away as soon as they reached the highway," Glattke said.

"They couldn't have gotten away in the few minutes that expired before the escape alarm was sounded, without having some help from the outside," he added.

The inmates evidently timed their flight for 9 p. m. They smashed a basement window of the dormitory. There are no bars on windows of the building, used solely to quarter trusties.

One Eligible For Parole.

One of the inmates was eligible for parole hearing this month, another in January and the other two within a few months afterward, the superintendent said.

Glattke listed the fugitives as Kenneth Haffa, 20, sentenced June 24, 1936 for burglary and larceny to serve one to 15 years; James Fisher, 19, sentenced Aug. 31, 1936 to serve one to 20 years for operating a motor vehicle without owner's consent; Walter Campbell, 20, sentenced Sept. 27, 1935 for auto stealing; and Roy Hall, 18, sentenced March 25, 1937 for auto stealing.

Haffa was eligible for parole hearing this month and Fisher in January. The other two would have been eligible early next year.

BALLET RUSSE HERE TONIGHT

Famous Dance Organization Opens Civic Music Season.

The stage of Senior high school auditorium will be converted into a colorful playground tonight as the famous Ballet Russe takes it over for one performance.

The Russian ballet, headed by Lichine, Jasinsky, and Olga Morosova, will open the Mansfield Civic Music association's initial season.

The Mansfield performance of the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo will bring the troupe to the smallest city in which this world famous ballet has ever appeared. It is a large troupe of dancers trained in the Russian school, and carries its own symphony orchestra, which is under the baton of Conductor Antal Dorati.

Phone Calls Threaten 4 Jurors Probing Paroles

'Bring In Right Verdict Or Be Taken For Ride,' One Member Of Panel Told—Others Tell Of 'Warnings'

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Four members of the special grand jury impaneled by Atty. Gen. Herbert S. Duffy to investigate charges of graft in the state parole system, disclosed today that they had been contacted by strangers since the hearings opened last Monday.

Three of the jurors were women, who asked that their names be withheld. The fourth, Matt Ash of Columbus, said he was not inclined to treat the matter seriously.

Ash said a woman called him on the telephone and declared:

"You'd better bring in the right verdict or you'll be taken out on a lonely country road and taught how to swim."

Gets Second Threat.

Later, Ash said, a man called and warned him:

"You'd better bring in the right verdict or you'll be taken for a ride."

One woman juror said a man called and asked her "What are you doing on the grand jury, and what do you intend to do?"

She said, she replied that it was none of his business.

Another woman juror was called by a man who said two addresses had been published as her home in stories on the jury investigation and he wished to know which was correct.

The third woman, accosted on the street, said she was asked about the grand jury's work, and replied that the proceedings were secret. The man left, she said, with the remark:

"I wonder if they are as secret as they are supposed to be?"

The jury resumed its sessions this morning with 10 men and five women. The change was due to the injury of Miss Nellie Dowling in an automobile accident. She was replaced by an alternate, Clarence W. Crum.

BACK BRICKER

County Dems Endorse Shelby Man For Election Board.

Fred L. Bricker of Jackson township was endorsed for a second term as a member of the Richland county board of elections by the county Democratic executive committee Saturday afternoon at the courthouse.

The endorsement, which is equivalent to election, leaves the board membership unchanged for at least two years. Republicans had previously endorsed George Williams of Shelby for a third term on the board.

Bricker, like Williams, had no opposition for the post and was given the unanimous support of 55 members of the county committee at the special session Saturday. Both their present terms expire March 31, 1938.

Other members of the board whose terms expire in 1940 are George C. Balliet, Democrat, chairman, and W. M. Ferguson, Republican. Both are Mansfield residents.

$50,000 LOSS

Blaze Levels Night Club on Ohio River Near Marietta.

MARIETTA — (AP) — Damage, estimated by the owners at $50,000, was caused today by fire of undetermined origin which swept the week-old Castle night club on the Ohio river, three miles south of here.

Firemen were summoned by passing motorists, but failed to bring the blaze under control.

Springfield Bank Robbed Second Time in 4 Months.

SPRINGFIELD—(AP)—Robbers staged the second holdup within four months at the Citizens bank here today. Two men fled with approximately $9,000.

Lutz Seeks House Floor Leadership

Richland Democrat After Post As Assembly Tackles Relief.

Ralph C. Lutz, Lexington, Richland county's representative in the legislature, is campaigning for the post of majority floor leader as the 92nd assembly reconvenes in special session to tackle the relief problem, dispatches to The News-Journal from Columbus said today.

Selection of a floor leader will be the first business before the house when it convenes at 1 p. m. Election of a floor leader is made necessary by the resignation of Jacob E. Davis of Pike county to become common pleas judge in his county.

Four Opponents.

Lutz, now serving his second term in the house, who has campaigned for the position, and who is expected to receive strong rural support, will have four opponents. One of them is Representative A. Lee Fair, Millersburg, Holmes county. Also in the race are Representatives Bishop Kilpatrick of Trumbull county and Samuel E. Anderson, Licking county.

Both Lutz and Fair are regarded as pro-administration candidates. Kilpatrick is considered sympathetic to the CIO and Anderson is a third supporter of the Davey administration.

[illegible] Democratic spokesman say that Governor Davey has maintained a "hands off" policy in the [illegible] grounds that the outcome will vitally affect the administration program.

Measures Before Assembly.

An atmosphere of uncertainty hung over the assembly today as it prepared for another attempt to solve Ohio's pressing relief problem.

Gov. Davey's legislative program was expected to include his million-dollar deficiency legislation, his proposal to amend the state unemployment insurance law to make benefits available by Jan. 1, 1938, and his $7,500,000 "50-50" relief plan for 1938, and the $12,000,000 welfare building program.

Also scheduled for consideration during this session were the governor's milk control and "anti-chiseling" sales tax enforcement legislation.

Few Legislators would venture predictions as to the probable length or outcome of the session.

BEHEADS BABY

Sandusky Man Killed Child With Saw, Police Claim.

SANDUSKY, O. — (UP) — John Miller, 32, was arrested by police here today after he beheaded his seven-months-old baby, Charles Edward, with a carpenter's saw.

"I just killed my baby," Miller purportedly told Policemen Ed Smith and Henry Sherer, who responded to a call from a neighboring apartment house of Mrs. Dorothy Wilson.

Miller's wife had held him after the murder while Mrs. Wilson summoned police. He made no effort to escape.

Taken to police headquarters, Miller allegedly warned Chief of Police Donald Bravard to "let me alone, I might kill anybody."

COLUMBUS — (AP) — John Owens, president of District Six, United Mine Workers, said today that Ohio union officials and legislative agents had been summoned to discuss unemployment relief at Columbus, Tuesday.

Theater Bosses 'Battle' For First 'Can Matinee' Honors

In the spring of the year a young man's fancy may turn to thoughts of love, but along about the first of December all Mansfield turns its thoughts and its hands to the Community Christmas.

Managers of Mansfield theaters are always among the first to offer their aid, and this year is no exception.

"When do we start the 'can matinees'?" they chorused over the Community Christmas telephone today. The argument was settled by the flip of a coin, and William Dworski of the Madison was the winner. The others—Frank Harpster of the Ohio, Sol Bernstein of the Ritz, and Wayne Williams of the Majestic, will settle the later dates among themselves.

Dworski said today that he will arrange a program of a feature and short subjects which will appeal to youngsters, and the matinee will be free to every one who presents a can of food at the Madison theater next Saturday morning. Fruit and vegetables are preferred.

In former years the theater men have accumulated approximately 2,000 cans of food as their contribution to the Christmas baskets for needy families. Club women of the city have contributed another 500 cans each year.

Clubs this year are asked to notify the Community Christmas office—Canal 2525—as soon as they

MESSAGE ASKS BROADER U. S. HOUSING ACT

Roosevelt Proposes 5-Year Program to Induce Flow of Private Capital.

URGES LIBERALIZED LAWS

Seeks 10 Per Cent Reduction In Down Payment on Homes Federally Insured.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Roosevelt asked congress today to liberalize existing law to encourage billions of dollars worth of new housing construction in the next five years.

In a message to the special session completed before he left for a Florida rest, the president asserted the "long-continued lag in building is a drag on all industry and trade" and was one of the principal reasons why general business failed to forge ahead in recent months.

Blames Rising Costs.

Declaring increases in hourly wage rates and material costs had been "too rapid and too great for the consumer to bear," and had checked production and buying in other industries, he said he would confer with representatives of industry, labor and finance in an effort to adjust such costs to consumers' means.

He proposed eight changes in the National Housing act [illegible] to make possible [illegible] effort to adjust such costs to consumers' means.

He proposed eight changes in the National Housing act [illegible] to make possible [illegible] insurance of [illegible] grounds that the outcome will vitally affect the administration program.

Here are the amendments suggested:

1—Raise the present insurable limit from 80 to 90 per cent of a property's appraised value in the case of loans to owner-occupants where the property does not exceed $6,000 in appraised value. The president said this was of "great importance" because it would permit persons hard hit by the depression to buy homes with a down payment of as low as 10 per cent instead of 20 per cent, as at present.

2—Reduce the interest and service charge on insured loans from 5½ to 5 per cent.

Asks Other Reductions.

3—Make the mortgage insurance premium one-half of one per cent on the "diminishing balance" of an insured mortgage instead of on the original face amount, as now required: Furthermore, cut the rate to one-quarter of one per cent on properties valued at not more than $6,000 and where

Trips Like This One Make Life of Sheriff Miserable

While a wintry blizzard whipped snow in Mansfield's face yesterday afternoon, Sheriff E. P. Long boarded a train for California for his first trip to the "sunny state."

It's in the line of duty as a county officer, however, that he's making the long journey, but it's sweeter to him now because of the fact that he was deprived of the trip last April when he was all ready to leave.

Seven months ago the prisoner he was to bring back escaped. This time he plans to return Arthur E. Aegerton, 26, to Mansfield to face charges of embezzling $73 from the Pioneer Storage company, and possibly a second prisoner wanted here for non-support of his family. Authorities declined to reveal the identity of the man wanted for non-support, who is believed hiding in California.

Long is expected back late next week.

Information On Correct Clothes

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I have been invited to go with friends for a week to a very fashionable resort Is mousseline-de-soie all right to wear during this late month? I have a lace dress and a black satin but I'd like to take the mousseline one—it is deep rose and very becoming. But I wonder whether I will look out of season in an evening dress made of this material.

Answer: This depends upon where the springs are. The farther north the less suitable summer materials would be, the farther south the better. North of Washington, for example, mousseline-de-soie would be likely to look as out of season as organide. It is true that if your dress has many yards in the skirt the thickness of its folds make up for its flimsiness of texture, and on a warm evening it would probably look perfectly suitable

* * *

Dear Mrs. Post: Is there anything improper about wearing the same dress twice as a bridesmaid? I have been asked to take part in two weddings, one following soon after the other, and I really can't afford to buy two special dresses

Answer: If the second bride intends to copy the wedding of the first (which is not likely), or as is quite possible, if you are maid-of-honor at both weddings and no others need therefore duplicate your dress, and if at the two weddings you wear different hats and the dress is not conspicuous—or if the wedding take place in different cities, then wearing the same dress might be arranged. But if you are to be one of several bridesmaids at both weddings this would certainly make it necessary to buy two complete costumes or else explain why you can't accept the second invitation

Young Man Asks How To Treat Girl

By VIRGINIA LEE

LONESOME LADDIE has been going with a girl since she was 14 and he 17—seven years. She now has broken the engagement and says she wants nothing more to do with him. Which is the reason why he is lonesome laddie.

He has been an ambitious young man, using his savings to advance his education and so qualify for a better position. The girl also works and has at times gone out with other boys, with Laddie's knowledge and consent, as he very sensibly felt, he writes, that she was very young and he had no desire to have her feel later that she had had no chance to get to know other boys.

Some time ago the girl asked him to quit his job and his plan for qualifying for a promotion which he had in mind, and get married secretly—she to work after the wedding. He did as she asked, and they got the marriage license, then changed their minds about immediate marriage because he did not get steady work as he expected. Now she has broken the affair off and left him without job and without girl.

Naturally he is lonely and disheartened, feeling that no girl is true and good.

Your engagement lasted too long, Laddie, although if her love had been as loyal as yours it would have held on. But she has been changing all these years from a little girl to a woman, and very often the type of boy an adolescent youngster is attracted to, is not at all the kind she wants when she is 21. You have not changed in that respect. She has.

You have been fine and understanding of her all these years, and it may be that after she has run around for a while she will want to come back to you. I feel you made a mistake in quitting your job and giving up your plan to qualify for the better paying job

I know how you must feel, and the wholly empty years that seem to stretch ahead of you You have my sympathy, but don't be too hard on the girl, and as time passes, I am sure you will also be just to other girls It is the few that are as you think, and the many that are all right.

I advise you to get another job as soon as possible—which, of course, you will do—and to go on with your education, fitting yourself for higher and higher positions.

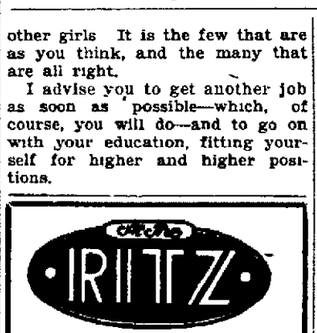
"The Authority on Authorities"

SAFE TO JUMP

SUPPOSE your partner has bid no trump, and your hand contains a solid suit, including every possible stopper in that suit. Don't you know that it is the only unstopped suit in your partner's hand? Consequently, don't you know that he can block the run of any other suit by the defenders and then run all of the tricks in your setup suit? Of course you do. It is therefore perfectly safe to jump his no trump bid to whatever seems to be the proper height.



(Dealer. North. East-West vulnerable)

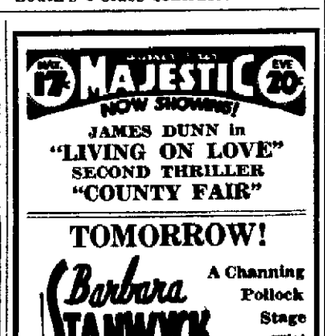
In a recent duplicate this deal arose and two South players, in the third position, decided to try 1-No Trump with their holdings. Where the North player responded with 2-Diamonds, the contract was allowed to remain at that contract.

One North player, however, figuring that he had passed what amounted to five or six tricks at a no trump contract, immediately jumped the contract to 3-No Trumps. The declarer lost three spades and one club, making game.

The South player could hardly be blamed for passing 2-Diamonds, as North had originally passed and with only three bare tricks in his own hand could hardly imagine a game was in sight.

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer. South. Neither side vulnerable.)

THEATER

Current Hollywood rumor that William Wyler is the top man in Greta Garbo's life is plenty embarrassing to Wyler, who doesn't even know the Swedish star. . . . And the funny part of it is the director probably has himself to blame. . . . Recently a reporter braced Wyler with the usual query. "What do you know that's news" . . . . Wyler replied, "Well, don't tell anybody, but Garbo and I are just like that." . . . In no time the story was in all leading papers. . . . Eastern scribes recently referred to Marlene Dietrich as "one of the greatest box-office bets the screen has ever known." . . .

Thrilling Color Film.

Action, romance and mystery combine to make "Ebb Tide," the first sea-picture ever filmed in technicolor, a thrilling evening's entertainment. The film, playing currely at the Madison theater, is adopted from a story by Robert Louis Stevenson and Lloyd Osbourne Heading thec ast are Oscar Homolka, noted Viennese star, Frances Farmer, Ray Milland and Lloyd Nolan. The story has to do with a derelict who falls in love with the daughter of a sea captain who died on an ill-fated voyage in the South Pacific. The balance of the film deals with the attempt of a beachcomber to steal the cargo after he contracts to take the ship into port.

Dizzy Love Affair.

A sparkling love feud which takes place at a medieval castle in rural England is depicted in "A Damsel In Distress." Fred Astaire's new musical comedy at the Ohio Gracie Allen, George Burns share top billing, with Joan Fontaine and Ray Noble in supporting the stars in the screen version of a P. G. Wodehouse story. The love affair begins with a chance meeting in London when the girl is trying to evade a loveless marriage. The film follows the adventures of the two (Astaire and the girl) when they are thrown together at the castle. The picture plays through Wednesday.

"Expensive Husbands."

Playing together for the first time as co-stars, Beverly Roberts and Patric Knowles come to the Majestic theater Tuesday in a romantic comedy, "Expensive Husbands." The story centers around a movie actress who, through no fault of her own, is sliding downward into the has-been class. She figures the best possible publicity she could obtain to bring her back into the limelight would be to get a titled husband. The fun begins when she goes to Europe to select her future mate. The second feature on the program will be "The Locked Door," with Barbara Stanwyck, Zasu Pitts, and Rod La-Rocque.

"Mr. Dodd Takes the Air."

Kenny Baker, famous radio tenor, makes his screen debut in "Mr. Dodd Takes the Air," one of the features opening Tuesday at the Ritz theater. The young crooner has the role of a small-town electrician who suddenly finds himself a famous radio star—all because of a throat operation. He spends his spare time inventing a gadget which eradicates all static from radio sets. And then two women start out to swipe the invention. Jane Wyman, Frank McHuch, Alice Brady and Gertrude Michael support the star. "As Good As Married," with John Boles and Doris Nolan, completes the screen entertainment.

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, Nov. 30.

According to the predominant astral influences, this is likely to be a day of rather adverse and difficult conditions, with everything depending on the wisdom and astuteness with which affairs are managed. While employment is fairly aspected otherwise, there are apt to be sudden upsets and devastating circumstances. Unless impetuosity and caustic speech and writings are subdued, they may breed enmity and spite.

If This Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of sudden disruptions and upsets that may cause removals and changes, more or less unwelcome. Unless erratic, tempestuous and reckless, as well as bitter, speech and writings be kept under rigid control, they may brew enmities, strife and reprisals. Successful issues depend entirely on sagacity, restraint and composure.

A child born on this day may be clever and energetic, but may also be tempestuous, rash, passionate and probably erratic and restless. It may get into trouble frequently unless it is trained and disciplined in infancy.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

JIM WAS patiently nervous shifting his weight from one foot to the other and twisting a small wrench between his fingers. His eyes were fixed upon the kitchen door, and I guessed that he was ready to leave precipitately should Katie put her head out of the door. I knew that he did not wish Katie to learn about my plan to put Noel's car out of commission, and going swiftly past him, I beckoned him out on the little stoop, out of sight of the door.

"What is it, Jim?" I asked in low tones

"Why, I wondered when you wanted me to start on that clutch, and where I could take it to do it," he said, keeping his own voice almost to a whisper and his eyes fixed upon the door back of me

"I don't know myself yet, Jim," I said. "But you won't need to worry. I'll call you after a while, and tell you, before the others, to take the car somewhere.. When you're gone away on that errand, you can break the clutch as you planned, and then telephone me.

Jim Feels Better.

"I'll tell you what to do over the telephone. Be ready to start at any minue this afternoon, and you won't have to come and ask me anything more about it. Does that make you feel better?"

"It sure does," he answered with a slow grin. "I ain't noways anxious to have Katie wise to this, and she'll be sure to suspicion something if she saw me talking to you private like this."

"You won't have to, again," I assured him, and then I went back to the veranda, where I found Mary on the arm of her grandmother's chair, smoothing the older woman's snowy hair while Noel was talking animatedly to Dicky

"Katie says lunch will be ready—"

"'Joost so qveek as vun leelte sheep kin vag hees tail'," Dicky and Mary chanted together.

"Something like that" I told them laughing, but my mother-in-law frowned.

"Do you think you'll ever get that ape to speak anything resembling the English language?" she asked.

"I stopped trying years ago," I answered, smiling, through irritably conscious that she had asked that question and I had thus answered it upon countless occasions

"I must go out to see Katie," Mary said. "She'll never forgive me if I don't hunt her up."

She was gone upon the word, coming back after a minute to summon Nole to the lunch which Katie had told her was ready.

"And don't you delay a second," she adjured him. "My spine and my ribs are doing a bunny hug, they're so close together."

She caught his hand and danced with him down the corridor, while the rest of us followed them, loath to lose a moment of the time they had to give us.

"How long can you stay?" Dicky asked when they were well through their first course.

Mary lowered her spoon of consomme to her plate

"Why spoil a perfectly good luncheon by bringing that up?" she queried, and I saw a dejected expression mirrored in Noel's eyes

"I can't stay at all," he said. "Father insists that I get back tomorrow as early as possible. That means I'll have to start by daybreak, or before.

"That's the reason we hurried so," Mary added. "We did so want to go down to the beach once more, the two of us, the way we used to do. But the car's acting up a bit, it ought to be taken to a garage as soon as possible"

"What seems to be the matter with it?" Dicky queried.

"I think the clutch needs adjusting," Noel replied, and I could have clapped my hands in glee at the way the fates were working for me.

"But that doesn't need to effect your plan for the beach," I told them "Jim can take your car down to the garage, and you can take one of ours—if that meets with your approval, dear," I turned demurely to Dicky.

"And will somebody kindly inform me what earthly good it would do me if I didn't approve?" he gibed However, as it happens, it's a scheme I heartily approve. Take either of the cars you like and have an afternoon to yourselves. We'll take care of the other car."

Muscular Rheumatic Pains

It takes more than "just a salve" to draw them out. It takes a "counter-irritant" like good old Musterole—soothing, warming, penetrating and helpful in drawing out the local congestion and pain when rubbed on the aching spots.

Muscular lumbago, soreness and stiffness generally yield promptly.

Better than the old-fashioned mustard plaster, Musterole has been used by millions for 30 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. All druggists'. In three strengths: Regular Strength, Children's (mild), and Extra Strong.

Still Coughing?

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm.

Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained from the very first bottle. Creomulsion is one word—not two, and it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

Sleeplessness Steals Beauty

Lack of sleep frequently etches needless lines into beautiful faces. Needless, because sleeplessness is often caused by constipation, as are also loss of appetite, mental dullness, nervousness, the aggravation of skin blemishes.

Keep regular. Don't let more than a day go by without proper elimination. Use Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. This famous laxative has been the choice of millions of people during a generation. It does not shock the intestinal system. Also, it stimulates the liver's secretion of bile without the discomfort of drastic or irritating drugs. Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at your druggist. 15¢, 30¢ and 60¢ everywhere.

COUNTY FIGHTS $1,500 VERDICT

Commissioners Carry Four-Year-Old Damage Suit to Court of Appeals.

Another chapter was opened yesterday in the $10,000 damage suit brought against Richland county commissioners by the late Nora Elizabeth Olds of Lexington when the commissioners filed an appeal with the district appeals court from a $1,500 verdict returned against them six weeks ago.

The case, which first entered the county courts four years ago, has been heard twice in common pleas court and once went to the Ohio supreme court.

Commissioners, represented by County Prosecutor Glenn W. Marriott and Atty J. V. Will, contended that they were not responsible for injuries received by Mrs. Olds in 1933 when her car turned over as she drove into the entrance to her farm home.

A common pleas court jury decided for the commissioners at the first hearing of the case in April, 1936. The plaintiff's case, continued by her husband, Harry Olds, after her death two years ago, was carried to the supreme court which reversed the first decision.

Motions for a new trial filed by counsel for both sides following the last trial six weeks ago were overruled by the court.

Mrs. Haverstein Finds World's Tonic the One Medicine She Had Been Needing.

Neuritis, Nervous Indigestion Quickly Conquered

"Little did I realize how remarkable World's Tonic really was until after I had given it a trial in my case" said Mrs Clara Haverstein, of 461 27th St., N. W., Massillon, O. "For several years my stomach had been so distressing; nervous indigestion after each meal; so short of breath I would get clear down at times What little I did eat had no taste to it. Then to make matters worse, neuritis and rheumatism nearly wrecked my whole system. My whole body ached and pained continually it seemed; joints swollen and so stiff at times But in spite of all this dreadful suffering, World's Tonic freed me of my health troubles within 30 days time That neuritis has been relieved, stomach regulated and never bothers me any more; nerves quieted and I really feel like a different person World's Tonic is one medicine on the market that gives the results it is supposed to give

No matter how much money you have spent or how many different kinds of medicine you have tried, don't give up until you have tried the new modern medicine, World's Tonic.

ELECTRIC RETREADING PROCESS SIMPLE BUT IT REVIVES TIRES

Retreading a tire by the Houlette process, as used by the Electric Retreading company, 8 North Franklin avenue, is a comparatively simple operation, yet tests have proved that it gives better than 80 per cent of the new tire wear.

Every operation hinges on the one preceding it, with each a vital part in giving a used tire a new lease on life. The entire process requires three hours for one tire or eight hours for a set of four.

Cars left at the shop in the morning can be driven away that night with each tire retreaded, or the company will put a new tread on one tire at a time, allowing the autoist to use their tires.

In the first operation of the retreading process, the tire is thoroughly inspected for defects such as stone cuts, flex cracks, chafed or broken beads, separations or "sand blisters."

It is then dried, removing all possible moisture. Next a staple-toothed high speed rasp is used in buffing and removing dead, dirty and road cut rubber, exposing a rough, life surface. The tire is buffed only on the tread surface and not necessarily to the depth of the fabric

The buffed surface is then cemented with a compounded rubber dissolved in benzol, thereby giving 300 to 400 per cent cantact area for the new tread.

The new tread is applied in the amount of approximately six pounds for a 600-16 average passenger car size. The tread is assembled with cushion stock to insure 100 per cent tread union and flexible contact with the casing. The tread is sufficiently thick to protect the casing with approximately the original tread thickness

The tire thus processed is mounted on a rim with an ordinary inner tube This assembly is placed within a mold and the tire side walls are adjusted to give maximum tread expansion with minumum contortion. Ninety pounds of air is applied to the tire to give it the necessary pressure for proper curing.

Heat is applied electrically and is automatically controlled at 290 degrees for one hour and 10 minutes. The heat is applied only to the new rubber on the road contact surface. The soulders and side walls of the tire remain exposed to room temperature, thereby not detracting from the original life and quality of the casing. The latter operation is an outstanding feature of the Houlette process as in many other retreading methods, the entire trie is baked, the company points out. The tire, having been dissembled, is again inspected for defective workmanship. The final process consists merely of finishing, trimming and painting. The retreaded tire may be run immediately.

'MISS OHIO' HEADS FLOOR SHOW OPENING TONIGHT AT GREYSTONE

A new floor show headed by "Miss Ohio of 1937," opens a five-day stand at the Greystone Nite club, West Fourth and Walnut streets, tonight.

The beauty queen is Miss Jean Fadden, 18-year-old Cleveland high school graduate who was crowned Miss Ohio at the state beauty finals last August at the Great Lakes Exposition.

Miss Fadden represented Ohio in the national beauty contest at Atlantic City in September where she finished third.

Her act at the Greystone will be an acrobatic dance. Miss Fadden has been dancing for several years. At the exposition she won the Miss Ohio title by doing an acrobatic dance in an ankle-length gown.

Winning honors in beauty contests has been a habit with her this year. In addition to capturing the Miss Ohio award, she won or placed second in several other beauty parades during the summer and captured a Cleveland screen test that won her a trip to New York and a tryout for the movies.

Other acts in the floor show which opens tonight at the Greystone and continues through Friday are: Leblanc and DuChaime, European adagio and variety dancers; Orlando, one of the top-notch jugglers in the show business, and the four Avery girls who do variety dancing.

Music for the acts and for dancing is furnished by Kenny Hoffman and his band The floor shows each night are at 10:30 p. m. and 1:15 a. m.

SANTA ON HAND

Quality Furniture 'Toy City' Crowded With Playthings.

Santa Claus has left a good part of his big stock in the "Toy City" at the Quality Furniture company, North Park street Thousands of playthings and games have been placed in "Toy City" this year.

Among the new toys are "Betsy Wetsy" dolls, the newest drinking and wetting dolls; "Regular Fellers" footballs and basketballs; building blocks to develop Junior's construction instincts, moviegraphs, typewriters that really can be used, and electric ranges that can be plugged into the electric lines so they can work.

That's just a few of them. There's the streamlined Lionel trains with a whistle; stations, tunnels, and other things that you find on a regular railroad system; complete display of table and chair sets; ranger, cowboy and Indian suits; Shirley Temple dolls in various sizes and Mickey Mouse.

The tendency to provide toys and playthings not only for amusement but for the purpose of educating children while they play, is more pronounced than ever in "Toy City" this year. The trend is general throughout the nation.

More Industrial Workers Over 45 Today Than Ever

Employment of persons over 45 years of age in industrial plants is steadily on the increase, census figures show.

The reason, according to experts, is found in the fact that labor is easier today than in years past because the "back-breaking" tasks of labor have been put on the machine. Census fiugres show, for instance, that in 1900 only 20 percent of industrial employees were 45 years or older; in 1930 the percentage had jumped to 25.4 and this year it is estimated to be about 30 percent.

Commenting on the increasing number of older employees in industy, William J. Cameon, Ford Motor company executive, pointed out:

"By lifting the burden off men and putting it on machines; by special attention to safety, lighting, ventilation, medical supervision and creation of healthful working conditions; by reducing the workday a third and the workweek 44 per cent; by doubling and trebling wages and lifting the standards of living, and doing these things of its own initiative, in obedience to the necessities of its own progress, modern industry has helped to preserve the prime of average working life to 50 and beyond."

MORE FROM COTTON

So many varied uses have been found for cotton that the cotton products now go to the retail market in more than 10,000 different forms.

7 DAYS A WEEK

That's Schedule of College Grocery on W. 3rd Street.

Service seven days a week, including evenings and holidays—that's the schedule of the College grocery, 151 West Third street.

The store handles a complete line of staple and fancy groceries as well as Sugardale cold meats. In addition, there are breads, rolls and cakes and just about anything you would expect a neighborhood store to handle.

The College grocery goes a step farther, however. Its stock includes ice cream, cigars, tobaccos, candy and newspapers and magazines as well as soft drinks.

Lyle R. Beck has been the proprietor of the store for the last five years.

A LONG TRAIN

If all the freight cars in service on American railroads were made up into one train, it would reach two-thirds of the way around the world at the equator.

Tygers Hold Big Edge In Statistics For 1937 Season.

By OSCAR RUHL

FOOTBALL figures may be misleading, but they are interesting, nonetheless.

In the nine football games the representatives of Mansfield high school played this year, the Tygers accumulated more than a mile and a half in yardage from rushing and passing.

The 2,353 yards gained by Coach Russ Murphy charges exceeds the opponents' total by 1,219 yards, an impressive comparison, to say the least. Capt. John Hallabrin, incidentally, was responsible for more than half of the yardage gained from scrimmage.

The Mansfield gridsters hold the edge in virtually every other respect in the statistics. Mansfield compiled 88 first downs to 52 for the adversaries.

Seventy of the first downs marked up by the Tygers came via the rushing route, which was the strong point of the Mansfield team's attack.

Mansfield also held an edge over the opponents in passing. The Tygers completed 35 out of 91 pass attempts to 32 out of 102 for the foemen. The Tygers intercepted 15 passes, while their opponents pulled down nine.

• • •

THE Men of Murphy punted 58 times for an average of 37 yards. Their foes averaged a yard less in 70 kicks.

Mansfield was also guilty of 33 fumbles, and 18 were recovered by foes. The Tygers covered 10 of the 22 bobbles committed by the opponents.

The complete statistics for the season follow.

Speculation Centers Around Three Teams.

BERKELEY, Cal.—(U.P.)—University of California's announcement of an eastern opponent for the Rose Bowl football game may come today. Ken Priestley, California's graduate manager of athletics, indicated he expected to make the choice shortly.

Speculation on California's choice centered on Pittsburgh, Fordham and Alabama. It was entirely possible that California, seeking an "ivy" team for its holiday game, might come up with an eleven outside of the group mentioned.

The Miller Oldsmobiles were unable to secure more than 2690 pins, but took two decisions from the Pioneer Rubbers at Willard.

Bears Clinch Western Title

NEW YORK—(UP)—The professional football season approaches its climax next Sunday when the Washington Redskins and the New York Giants clash at the Polo Grounds in a game that will decide the eastern title race. The winner will meet the Chicago Bears on the following Sunday for the world's championship.

The Bears clinched the western crown yesterday when they handed the Cleveland Rams their tenth defeat of the season, 15-7.

Even if the Bears had lost to Cleveland they would still have won the western title because of Green Bay's unexpected 14-6 loss to the Redskins. The accurate passing of "Slinging" Sammy Baugh set up both the Redskins' last half touchdowns to overcome a six-point Packer lead. The game drew Washington's largest football crowd in history—30,000.

Tackles Kenmore

Mansfield High Cagers Open Season With Akron Club Friday Night.

A MANSFIELD high school basketball team of questionable strength will make its 1937 debut on the home planks against Akron Kenmore Friday night.

The aggregation has shown much promise in preliminary drills, but Coach Russ Murphy plans to withhold judgment on the team until he sees it under fire.

Murphy Faces Job.

Murphy has plenty of work ahead of him before he can call his rebuilding program completed. Only John Hallabrin of grid fame and Freddy Lewis of the last winter's quintet are back again, and it will be necessary for reserves to fill important berths this season.

Elmer Dials, Harold Gallagher, Dave Shelly, Tom Scott and Jack Lyons saw some service in substitute roles last season, but they cannot be called experienced ball players.

They will get the preference in the selection of the first-string squad, however.

In all probability, Scott and Shelly will share the forward posts with Lewis. Scott and Shelly showed outstanding promise in reserve games, and Murphy belives they will develop into dependable performers.

Dials and Gallagher, apparently, have the first call on the pivot post, with Hallabrin, Lyons, Rich Nagle, Ike Smith and Don Finefrock figuring in the battle for the guard posts.

In addition to the players named, Murphy has a number of fine prospects in Gene Rudolph, Jack Dugger, Bill Harmony and the group of players advanced from the junior high schools.

What Kenmore will provide in the way of competition is uncertain. However, the Akron school has compiled an enviable record on the court in past years, and it is again expected to be capably represented.

First Court Game.

This year Friday night will mark the first time that the Tygers have met Kenmore on the court. Their only athletic relations in the past were confined to football.

A preliminary game featuring a sophomore team against an unnamed opponent will precede the Tyger-Kenmore clash.

Whizzer Safely Perched On Scoring Throne.

With practically all the returns in, Byron (Whizzer) White, Colorado university's great all-around back, is safely ensconced on the throne as kingpin of the point getters for the 1937 football season.

White closed his regular season Thanksgiving day by scoring 22 points to bring his total for eight games to 122 and regain the lead from Sid White of Brooklyn college. A recount last week showed an extra point after touchdown in Sid's totals, bringing his count for the year to 113.

THIS RAM GOT RAMMED!

Here's a case when a Ram really got rammed. The lad with the "shiner" is Joe Woitkoski, Fordham university halfback. The lad showing all the admination for the colorful optic is Fordham's center, Alexander Wojciechowicz. Yes, it occurred on the football field.

FAVORED IN N. C. O. RACE

Marion Looms as Strongest Quintet In Conference This Season.

Marion Harding again rules as the pre-season favorites in the N. C. O. conference basketball race.

Ashland, which won the title last winter, has only one letterman back, and the prospects at the other schools are not as encouraging as they are at Marion.

Eight Vets Back.

Eight players who saw varsity service at Marion last year are back again. Players returning are John Winters, Jack Fetter, Robert Woolsey, Glen Wintermute, Bill Decker, Donald Annan, Busby Sweeney, Roy Everly and Ray Hudson.

Marion's title hopes are strengthened by the return of all members of the junior varsity team, which won the league title last winter.

Ashland lost nine lettermen, and has only Ed Snook back to form the nucleus for John Longley's Ashland debut as coach. Bill Deaver, John Carlisle and Carl Schemel are back at Bucyrus, which should be well represented.

Mt. Vernon loses Eddie Lore at mid-season, but the Jackets are expected to make a strong bid for the title Coach John Boyer of Shelby is expected to turn out another fine crew of basketeers. He has four seniors and three juniors back, but has lost Junior Hartman, Leonard Carlisle and Ray Ernsberger.

Promising Hopes.

Six lettermen add promise to the Galion picture They are Bob Gardner, Bill Adams, Bob Cass, Lowell Maidens, Casto Ramsey and Lawrence Maidens.

Adds Kibbons; Davis to Card

Nolan Completes Main Bouts For Wednesday.

The events co-headlining Wednesday night's all-lightheavyweight wrestling program in the Armory was completed today with the signing of another good 2-3 fall, 90 minute contest.

The latest addition to the card will send Mike Kibbons, rangy star from Oklahoma A. & M. university, against the colorful "Silver Streak" from Houston, Tex., Sterling Davis.

Jose Rodriquez of Mexico City and Bobby Blake, rugged Columbus boy, had previously been signed to grapple the co-headliner.

Davis is one of the best 175 pounders ever produced in the state of Texas and presents an unusual and colorful appearance in the ring with his "Silver Streak" of white hair through the center of his head.

Plenty of mat class goes with Davis' other assets and when he meets the former collegiate mat star, Kibbons, there's apt to be plenty of wrestling fur flying in the Armory ring.

EAST REGAINS GRID PRESTIGE

Six of 10 Undefeated Clubs In Country Represent Eastern Sector; Pittsburgh, Fordham Rank as Class of District.

By HERBERT W. BARKER

NEW YORK—(AP)—Out of the hurly-burly of the fading football season rises one striking development—the obvious swing of the gridiron pendulum back to the east.

Of the ten major elevens which have completed their campaigns without defeat six represent the eastern sector and at least four of these must be given consideration in any national championship debate.

The final returns on undefeated teams found the east represented by Pittsburgh, Fordham, Villanova, Dartmouth, Holy Cross and Lafayette; the south by Alabama; the far west by California and Santa Clara, and the Rocky Mountain district by Colorado.

Tested By Schedules.

Pitt and Fordham, who played each other to a scoreless drawn in the only game either failed to win, generally will be ranked as the East's most powerful machines. Supporters of Villanova and Dartmouth may dissent but the fact remains that the Panther and Ram went through more testing schedules than either of the other two.

The weekly Associated Press ranking poll almost certainly will find Pitt still holding the No. 1 spot followed by California, Alabama and Fordham, possibly in that order. That would furnish an ideal lineup for the Rose Bowl and Sugar Bowl games in the event California decides not to invite Alabama. The pairings on New Year's day at Pasadena then could be California against Pitt and at New Orleans Alabama against Fordham

Last week's competition settled every major conference championship except in the southwest where Rice's Owls, victors by a 13-7 count over Baylor, can clinch the crown by whipping Southern Methodist this Saturday. If the Owls get no better than a draw with S. M. U., the championship will end in a tie between Rice and Texas Christian's Horned Frogs who spilled Southern Methodist, 3-0, Saturday on a fourth-period field goal by Davey O'Brien.

Pitt and Fordham rang down the curtains on their unbeaten regular seasons on Saturday with impressive victories. Pitt took advantage of two fumbles to trip Duke's Blue Devils, 10-0. Fordham spilled New York university, 20-7.

The season's biggest crowd, 102,000, sat through rain and fog at Philadelphia to see Army, striking through the air in the early minutes, score a touchdown and then hang on to gain a 6-0 triumph over Navy.

Columbia closed a drab season with a moral victory by holding heavily-favored Stanford to a 0-0 draw, thanks mostly to the passing, running, and kicking of Sid Luckman.

Pitt's victory over Duke dominated the southern program marked otherwise by Auburn's 14-0 conquest of Florida, Louisiana State's 20-7 defeat of Tulane and Georgia's 6-6 draw with Georgia Tech.

Irish Stage Rally.

In the midwest, Marion Tonelli got loose for 70 yards and then punched across a touchdown in the final two minutes to give Notre Dame a 13-6 victory over Southern California. Nebraska, winning from Kansas State, 3-0, on Lowell English's field goal from the 23-yard line, clinched the Big Six title again. Centenary's gentlemen spilled Oklahoma A. & M. 19-0.

In the far west, Missouri, playing its second game in three days, held U. C. L. A. for three periods but faded in the fourth and dropped a 13-0 decision. Johnny Pingel led Michigan State to a 14-0 victory over San Francisco.

Villanova and Santa Clara concluded unbeaten seasons on the west coast yesterday, the Villanovans routing Loyola of Los Angeles, 25 to 0, and Santa Clara whipping Gonzaga, 27-0.

PROFIT TAKING ACCOUNTS FOR EARLY SETBACK

Leading Issues Suffer Losses of Fractions to Two or More Points.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Selling in steels and motors turned the tide in today's stock market and leading issues suffered losses of fractions to 2 or more points.

Profit taking rather than any drastice change for the worse in the news picture, brokers said, probably accounted for the early set-back. Mild recoveries were in evidence near the second hour, but volume was comparatively small. Bonds were quiet and commodities inclined to slip.

While some market analysts were looking for a seasonal upturn in industrial activity in January because of the sharp contraction in the closing weeks of 1937, others were still hesitant in their predictions of substantial improvement.

The magazine "Steel" stressed current light buying of the metal and looked for aggregate purchases in November to be about 15 per cent under the October level. At the same time it was pointed out inventories were beginning to dwindle in many lines.

Although there had been a modest increase in steel production in few centers, it was said, this has not been sufficient to overcome the general curtailment.

tion and breaking windows in the house. Thirty chickens in the barn were killed.

Shattered glass struck Keller in the face, and Mrs. Keller, who was preparing dinner, escaped injury when the dinner table went crashing against a wall. Keller, who said he had no wind insurance on the buildings, was unable to estimate the damage immediately.

The baby tornado blew the roof from a barn on the Glen Stevens farm southeast of Galion, and ripped doors from other buildings in the section.

A 30-degree drop in temperature and snow squalls accompanied the wind which left paths of destruction along the shore of Lake Erie and near the Ohio river east of Cincinnati.

Mrs. William Ohlrich, 55, of Garfield Heights, near Cleveland, died a few hours after a 52-mile-an-hour gale lifted her from the porch at her home and demolished a brick wall at the house.

Nine houses and three business places at Manchester, on the Ohio river, were unroofed by the wind and buildings at the Adams county fairgrounds at West Union, were damaged. Telephone and power service was disrupted as poles were blown down in sections of southern Ohio.

Light snow followed by clearing and continued cold weather was predicted today for the Mansfield area where the mercury tumbled to 18 degrees above zero early this morning. The top readings Sunday was 58. Precipitation yesterday and last night totaled .23 of an inch.

First Ashland Liquor Store's Robbed, Then Milk's Stolen.

ASHLAND—Maybe they were the same thieves, and maybe they weren't.

Anyway, thieves broke into the state liquor store here early Sunday and carted away three cases of liquor.

A few hours later, according to police reports, thieves stole two bottles of milk from front porches of Ashland homes. And milk isn't a bad "cure" in case of over-consumption of liquor, police speculated, as they pondered whether the same people might be responsible for both thefts.

REFUSED BAIL

College Student Held on Homicide Charge in Child's Death.

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—Mary K. O'Connor, young college physical education student, was held today without bail on a homicide charge for action by the coroner in the death of five-year-old Nancy Glenn last Labor day.

Mayor S. Davis Wilson announced his decision after hearing testimony that the girl was in the vicinity where the child's body was found.

CONGRESS GETS BUILDING PLAN

the mortgage is insured prior to July 1, 1939.

4—Authorize insurance mortgages up to $20,000 for construction of apartments, as well as groups of houses, for sale or rent, but limit the mortgage to $1,000 per room. Such insured loans are now limited to $16,000 for each project.

5—Revise the limited dividend corporation section to encourage construction of large-scale rental properties in the larger communities. Insured loans to be kept at 80 per cent of appraisal value on mortgages up to $5,000,000, as at present, but a limitation of $1,200 per room to be substituted for existing "low income" definition which officials regard as too vague.

6—Liberalize provisions for chartering national mortgage associations to permit financing of such large building projects by a single or "blanket" mortgage; the Reconstruction Finance corporation to make available $50,000,000 for capital purposes.

7—Make the $2,000,000 limitation on the total amount of mortgages insurable apply to the amount of insurance to be outstanding at any one time.

8—Revive the provision that expired last April, authorizing insurance of loans up to $10,000 for moderniation and repairs, but excluding equipment such as refrigerators.

The president said he was presenting these proposals for immediate consideration as "an important part of the program for increasing general business activity and employment during the coming year."

"From the point of view of widespread and sustained economic recovery," he added, "housing constitutes the largest and most promising single field for private enterprise."

He pointed out that building of new dwelling units had fallen behind by between 600,000 and 800,000 a year in the last seven years compared with the seven years prior to 1930 and that this presented an "urgent problem which is the common concern of industry, labor and government."

Chances For Tax Revision Fade.

WAHINGTON — (U.P.) — Prospects for immediate tax relief for business faded today and completion of President Roosevelt's special session program appeared impossible.

Both senate and house will consider crop control under threat of a veto if they vote additional farm-aid funds without providing new revenue.

Mr. Roosevelt's week-end reminder that congress must impose new taxes to cover all unbudgeted expenditures this session and next was the latest of a series of White House moves to check the deficit and national debt. The gross deficit of $759,-004,732 (M) is well below the $1,229,919,000 (B) by which the treasury was in the red on the same date a year ago. But the national debt has grown in 12 months from $33,798,000,000 (B) in November, 1936, to $37,-087,000,000 (B) last week.

So far as this session is concerned, legislators will surprise themselves if they are able to dispose of more than one major bill in addition to crop control.

Personal LOANS

On Better Terms

You may have 12-18-24 months...or even longer time to pay your loan. And as you pay, your payments step-down for each $50 reduction.

Thus the average payment on a loan of say, $500 is only $10.80 per month.

HENRY TO SPEAK AT GRID PARTY

Mansfield's Most Famous All-American to Be Here For Tyger Victory Banquet.

A fullback in his high school days, Henry, who tipped the scales well over 200 pounds, was converted into a lineman at Washington and Jefferson, and it was there he became famous.

* * *

Following his graduation in 1920, Pete became one of the pioneers in professional football. He played with the Canton Bulldogs in the playing days of Knute Rockne, Jim Thorpe and other immortals, and later performed with the Pottsville, Pa., pro eleven.

In 1929, Henry was named freshman football coach at W. & J. He later served as line coach under Bill Amos. When the new athletic policy was put into effect at the Washington, Pa., school several years ago, Henry was named acting graduate manager of the college.

In March this year, he became director of athletics, and is now in charge of all intramural and intercollegiate sports there.

The News-Journal considers itself fortunate in obtaining Henry to participate in the program staged annually in recognition of the record of Mansfield high gridders.

His appearance on The News-Journal program will be his first on a major football program in the city where he first won fame in an athletic way.

As the banquet will again be an open affair, Mansfield football fans who have followed the sport at the high school since the days of Henry to the present time, will have a chance to hear and renew their old acquaintanceships with the all-time All-American.

The evening programs, which will begin at 8 p. m., will include musical entertainment to be provided by Mansfield high school orchestra.

The heavy demand for tickets for the lecture series indicates keen interest in the subject of personality and the talks are expected to attract an unusually large number of persons.

LUTZ CAMPAIGNS FOR HOUSE POST

Richland Representative Seeks Majority Floor Leader's Job as Assembly Reconvenes.

It was generally conceded that the relief battle would center about the crucial relief question with party lines, to a large extent, breaking down before urban demands for substantial state aid on the one hand and rural pressure for a minimum of state assistance on the other.

Trouble In Senate.

Most legislators are agreed that the greatest obstacle to the governor's program will come in the "hatchet men" claim control of all but nine of the 36 seats.

This group, sometimes referred to as the "economy bloc," has stood consistently for drastic reduction in governmental expenditures, principally as a means of providing funds for relief without the imposition of new taxes.

It was this stand that resulted in the fruitless and extended battle at the last regular session that culminated in adjournment without passage of relief or budget legislation.

Lieut. Gov. Paul P. Yoder, leader of the hatchet men, already has asserted that his group will oppose the deficiency legislation on the grounds that savings in government departments could have averted the necessity for additional funds.

Many legislators have said openly that they expect little to be accomplished in this session. Groups in both houses have indicated their opposion to all phases of the governor's program, excluding the unemployment insurance amendment.

The governor's announcement that he would present this legislation to provide a maximum of $15 a week to the unemployed for 16 weeks during the present business recession came too late to obtain any widespread expression of opinion.

However, Sen. Keith Lawrence, Cuyahoga, Democratic floor leader, has predicted the amendment may meet serious obstacles in the upper house.

And while the drive for canned goods was under way today, organizations and individuals were offering aid in raising funds for the baskets. The Retail Merchants will distribute 500 tickets for the annual Christmas show, to be staged Dec. 18, among members of the organization.

The show, incidentally, is gathering speed as plans develop and when the details are announced, a lot of people may get trampled in the rush for tickets.

A. F. OF L., CIO SEEK TO SPEED PEACE PROGRAM

But Drive to Pull Furniture Industry From Federation Threatens New Snag.

WASHINGTON—(UP)—Buffeted by the business recession, the American Federation of Labor and Committee for Industrial Organization will meet again today in a joint attempt to end their two-year-old internal dispute, Peace committees from each group were scheduled to resume their talks early this afternoon. The meeting time was still undetermined as a result of continued postponement of the conference.

As the time for the resumption of the conference draws near, it was believed there would be increased efforts from both sides for definite action toward peace.

David Dubinsky, president of the International Ladies Garment union, one of the most powerful of the CIO affiliates, brought to the conference a resolution of the union's general executive board which asked for a speedy peace. The resolution based its plea upon recent attacks on labor and the economic recession.

Arouses New Enmity.

However, a new critical stage in A. F. of L.-CIO relations was reached last night when the CIO announced a drive for an industrial union in the furniture industry and formally requested that an A. F. of L. affiliate secede.

A conference of furniture workers' delegates, claiming to speak for 50,000 laborers, voted unanimously to form a new CIO union within 45 days to organize 250,000 employes in the field.

A referendum was prepared for submission to independent unions and to members of the federation's Upholsters' union. Sal B. Hoffman, president of the A. F. of L. affiliate, said he supported the CIO and would ask his membership of 36,000 to follow him out of the federation.

This act was described as a "warlike gesture" on the part of Lewis by Federation President William Green. Other federation officials denounced it as a deliberate raid on their membership.

The conference, which resumes today, will be a continuation of joint talks that adjourned in a deadlock two weeks ago. Their resumption was postponed at the request of the federation committee.

GRAVE DIGGERS OUT ON STRIKE

NEW YORK—(AP)—The strike of grave-diggers and other workers at Greendwood cemetery, Brooklyn, held up seven more burials today as police guarded the gates to forestall any chance of a sit-down demonstration.

The grave-diggers, grass cutters, gatekeepers, chauffeurs and laborers, about 358 in all, struck Saturday when they learned 100 men were to be laid off.

2,700 PAY UP GARBAGE BILLS

Collections Period Ends for Last Quarter of Year.

With 2,700 or more than 50 per cent of the 5,000 garbage collection bills paid, the garbage department has closed the last quarter collection with approximately $5,000 of the $9,000 billing paid, Ralph A. Hughes, secretary of the water, sewer and garbage departments said today.

Hughes said that many of the residents discontinue the service during the winter months.

There is no penalty for nonpayment, the customers name being placed on a delinquent list, with collections discontinued at his address after Dec. 1, Hughes explained.

2 DRIVERS FINED

Third Forfeits $25 Bond When He Fails to Appear In Court.

Two motorists arraigned in municipal court today on driving charges were fined while a third forfeited his bond when he failed to appear.

Jooseph Marietta, 607 North Bowman street, convicted on a charge of failure to stop after an accident was fined $10 and costs. The charges grew out of an accident involving Marietta on Sept. 28.

Aubrey B. Faust, Mansfield, was fined $50 and costs when he pleaded guilty to driving his automobile with license plates issued for another car. Acting Judge Stuart H. Cramer suspended $45 of the fine. Faust was arrested by state highway Patrolman R. L. Alexander on route 42 yesterday.

Oscar Gregg, 34 Raleigh avenue, charged with careless and reckless driving, forfeited his bond of $25 when he failed to appear in court. Gregg was arrested this morning on South Main street while driving 50 miles an hour in a 35-mile-an-hour zone, police said.

MACHADO LOSES COURT FIGHT

Former Cuban Dictator Denied Dismissal of Extradition Motion.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Gerardo Machado, former Cuban dictator, today lost the first round of a battle to escape extradition to Cuba on murder and embezzlement charges which grew out of the 1933 revolution in which he was overthrown.

United States Commissioner Garrett W. Cotter denied a motion by Machado's attorneys to dismiss an application for extradition.

After a heated debate with Machado's chief counsel, former United States Commissioner Francis A. O'Neill, the commissioner agreed to conduct a hearing tomorrow in Murray Hill hospital, where Machado, ill, is under guard of a United States deputy marshal.

Fur Ablaze, Cat's Dash Sets House And Barn On Fire

JACKSON, Mich.—(UP)—Somewhere in Jackson county, a shivering cat walked today, unmindful of the fact that it had made a fairly successful attempt to imitate the famed cow of Mrs. O'Leary.

Mrs. Bessie Warner started to kindle a fire in the stove of her home early Sunday. To aid the stubborn blaze, she poured kerosene on the embers. The flames backfired, singing the hairs of the family cat.

With its fur ablaze, the cat jumped on a davenport in the Warner home, setting that piece of furniture afire. Then it dashed out an open door, its fur still smouldering, and across the road to the barn on the farm of Nrman Allen.

Allen was milking his cows when he noticed the flames. The barn was destroyed, as were half a dozen cows and a like number of pigs.

Jackson firemen responding to an alarm saved the Warner home with the exception of the davenport. Mrs. Warner was taken to Foote hospital, Jackson, for shock treatment.

INDUSTRIALIST'S WIFE DIES

PORT CLINTON—(AP)—Relatives received word of the death today in Miami, Fla., of Mrs. Scott J. Matthews, 66, wife of the president of the Matthews Co. of Port Clinton.

WILLARD—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Chapman of Plymouth are the parents of a daughter, born at the hospital here Saturday.

RETURN FROM HI-Y MEETING

9 Mansfield Members Back From First Ohio Conference.

Nine members of Mansfield Hi-Y clubs and two advisors returned home last night from Toledo where they attended the first Ohio Hi-Y conference held there over the week-end.

The conference attracted 1,052 high school boys from all parts of the state. Sessions of meeting were held at Scott high school and the Toledo Y.M.C.A.

Attending from Mansfield were David Hagelbarger, Wilton Morkel, Frederick Hauson, William Fishback, Robert Fleming, Harold Williams, Robert Norris, Charles Cutter and Richard White. Accompanying the group was Ralph B. Chapman, general secretary of the Y.M.C.A., and Harold Mansfield.

3 YOUTHS, GIRL CAUGHT IN CHASE

Police Bullets End Wild Ride In Lancaster Business Area.

LANCASTER, O.—(UP)—Three youths and an 18-year-old girl were held by authorities today after police bullets had ended an automobile chase through Lancaster's downtown district.

Two shotguns and ammunition were found in the car which the four had driven from a Logan gasoline station without paying for nine gallons of gasoline.

The three youths were registered as Pete Polinsky, 20, said to have resisted officers with a shotgun; Frank Soda, 18, and James Myino, 19, all of Niles. Helen Elliot, 18, of Toronto, O., told police she was "picked up" by the youths at Toronto Saturday.

HUMAN TORCHES

11 Men Burned Critically as Gas Well Explodes.

CHARLESTON, W. Va.—(AP)—Eleven men, critically burned when a gas well explosion made torches of their clothing, rested in a Charleston hospital today, where physicians said they probably would recover.

The explosion came yesterday at the United Fuel and Gas company's well at Sissonville while a dozen workmen were busy removing tools. The well came in 72 hours ago at 10,000,000 feet a day.

Frank Kingry, a driller and the only workman to escape the flames, said he had noticed gas in the engine house "and warned them not to start the engine because there might be an explosion."

"A little later I heard the engine start," he continued, "and flames shot far up the 87-foot derrick."

HOLD SPECIAL SERIVES

SHELBY—Two special services were held yesterday at the First Methodist church with Emily Fox, deaconess-director of Rebecca Williams' Community house, Warren, as the guest speaker for the annual "Harvest Home" service in the morning. Rev. W. W. Ralph spoke on the subject, "A ermon by the Devil," at the evening service with over 100 persons present.

ARRESTS HALT CIO 'SHOWDOWN'

14 Jailed After Parade, Distribution of Union Literature.

JERSEY CITY, N. J.—(AP)—A CIO "showdown" unionization drive in New Jersey's second largest city was at least temporarily stalemated today when police arrested 14 union representatives and escorted two score more out of town.

Those held were charged with violating a city ordinance prohibiting distribution of literature without a license. They were taken into custody when 40 CIO representatives were met by a score of police at a waterfront building housing several industrial concerns. The Committee for Industrial Organization contingent marched from the union's meeting place to the Harborside building and began distribution of handbills urging workers to "be wise—organize. Join the CIO."

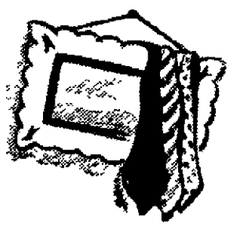
FIVE TIPS ON TIES FROM US TO YOU

1 Never tie the knot so tight it needs a sailor to undo it.

2 Untie it in reverse of tying process. Don't just yank it apart, or half untie it and slip it over your head.



3 Hang tie up when not in use or (better!) put it to sleep between a couple of books.

4 Have enough ties so that they can rest up between wearings. This gives wrinkles a chance to straighten out.

5 Always choose Arrow ties. They're styled by the same experts who make Arrow Shirts, and resiliently tailored for long wear.

Christmas Cookies On Today's Plan

By PAULINE SCHOFIELD
(Home Service Dept., Ohio Fuel Gas Company.)

It won't be long now until you will begin to hear your friends say, "Just think, Christmas is only a few weeks away. If you and your family enjoy having cookies as one of the delicacies for the Christmas feast or to nibble at Christmas eve, start searching for some new recipes now.

Housewives who delight in preparing holiday delicacies, should not overlook the possibilities of giving them as Christmas gifts this year. When wrapped in attractive packages, they make splendid Christmas remembrances.

Yummy Gum Drop Squares.

4 eggs
2 cups light brown sugar
1 tablespoon cold water
2 cups flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup chopped pecans
1 cup shredded gum drops of assorted flavors
(omit the licorice flavor)

Beat the eggs thoroughly, add the sugar and water, then beat again. Sift flour with the salt and cinnamon and sprinkle a portion of it over the pecans and gum drops. Add the remaining flour to the egg and sugar mixture, then fold in the pecans and gum drops. Spread thin in greased and floured shallow baking pans (use pans measuring about 8x13 inches) and bake in a slow oven (325°F.) for 30 minutes. While still warm, ice with the following:

Icing.

2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons orange juice
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
Powdered sugar

Melt the butter, add orange juice, grated rind, and enough powdered sugar to make a thin icing. Spread thinly over the baked sheets, and while still warm cut into 2-inch squares and remove from the pans.

College Fudge Squares.

½ cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup butter or other shortening
2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, well beaten
¼ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup broken walnut meats

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Add butter to chocolate and mix well. Add sugar gradually to eggs, beating thoroughly; then add chocolate mixture and blend. Fold in flour. Add milk, vanilla, and nuts, and mix well. Bake in greased pan, 8x8x2 inches, in slow oven (325°F.) 10 minutes, or until done. Makes 2½ dozen cookies. Cookies may be cut in fancy shapes and frosted or decorated with colored candies, sugar, citron, nuts, and candied cherries. They are especially suitable for children's parties or for holiday entertaining.

Coconut Flake Cookies.

1½ cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
3 cups Grape-Nuts Flakes, Post Toasties, or Bran Flakes
1 cup butter or other shortening
1 cup granulated sugar
½ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
2 eggs, unbeaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
1½ cups shredded coconut

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again; add flakes. Cream butter, add sugar gradually, and cream together well. Add eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each. Add vanilla. Add flour and flakes mixture, mixing well. Add coconut. Drop from teaspoon on ungreased baking sheet and bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 12 to 15 minutes, or until done. Makes about 5 dozen cookies. For variation, ½ cup chopped nuts may be added to mixture before baking.

Date Surprises.

3 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoon salt
½ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
2 teaspoons baking powder
2-3 cup butter or other shortening
1 egg, well beaten
⅓ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light nd fluffy. Add egg and vanilla; then flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating until smooth. Chill thoroughly. Roll ⅛ inch thick. Cut with 2½-inch floured cutter. Place 1 teaspoon date filling on a circle. Place another circle on top, and press edges together. Bake on ungreased baking sheet in hot oven (400°F.) 10 to 12 minutes. Makes about 3 dozen.

Date Filling for Date Surprises.

2 cups dates, seeded and chopped
2-3 cup boiling water
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2-3 cup sugar
1 tablespoon butter

Cook dates, sugar, and water 6 to 8 minutes, or until thick, stirring constantly. Remove from fire; add lemon juice and butter. Cool.

Chocolate Pin Wheels.

1½ cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
⅛ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter or other shortening
½ cup sugar
1 egg yolk, well beaten
3 tablespoons milk
1 square unsweetened chocolate, melted

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift, again. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together well. Add egg yolk. Add flour, alternately with milk, beating after each addition until smooth. Divide dough in two parts. To one add chocolate. Chill. Roll each half into rectangular sheet, ⅛ inch thick. Place chocolate sheet on top. Roll as for jelly roll. Chill thoroughly. Cut in ⅛ inch slices. Bake on ungreased sheet in hot oven (400°F.) 5 minutes. Mikes 3½ dozen.

Toast Sweetener

Strained honey mixed with soft butter makes a delicious topping for hot cinnamon toast. It is good, too, on other hot breads. It may be poured from a pitcher for use on pancakes.

Serve Cakes Of Crabment

Is it time to have your bridge club again? Or are you inviting some friends in for Sunday night supper soon? Don't worry about what to serve, for here's a new piece de resistance that will bring raves from your guests!

Crabmeat Cakes are delicate and light—and decidedly partyish. And with thin bread and butter sandwiches, a tart salad, glasses of frosty iced tea, and a simple dessert, you have a menu that's distinctive and yet easy to prepare.

Crabmeat Cakes.

1½ cups finely chopped raw potatoes (2 potatoes)
½ cup irradiated evaporated milk
½ teaspoon salt
Dash of cayenne
2 cups shredded crabmeat (cooked or canned)
2 eggs

Cook the potatoes in the milk over boiling water until almost tender. Season with salt and cayenne. Add crabmeat and eggs. Drop mixture from tablespoon onto a hot well-greased griddle. Brown slowly on both sides. Yield: 12 cakes, 6 servings.

Crabmeat Cakes are pretty to serve—they fry such a beautiful golden brown, and the shredded crab gives the cakes an interesting shaggy appearance.

Uses for adhesive tape: To hold torn shoe lining in place; to fasten loose book leaves; to repair torn sheet music; to mend rubber hose, raincoats and overshoes.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1937.

There's been a depression; now there's a recession—also occasional indications of an obsession.

In its argument with a drunken driver, the telephone pole can usually be depended upon to stand firm.

With almost a million dollars already banked, there's no particular reason why the Dionne quints shouldn't believe in Santa Claus.

Two Important Dates.

THIS is the Christmas shopping season, and we wouldn't want to interfere with that, but there are two events on the December calendar in Mansfield that really warrant your attention.

One, especially for the football fans is the annual News-Journal "Victory banquet" for the Mansfield High football team, which has concluded an eminently satisfactory season. That's on Dec. 15.

The other—in which everyone should be interested, football fan or not—is the Community Christmas show, on Dec. 18 at the Ohio theater, and a midnight show as its predecessors have been.

Let no one get the idea that because business was going great guns most of the year, there won't be families needing Christmas baskets. Business isn't going great guns right now, either in Mansfield or elsewhere. There are a lot of folks out of work to whom a Christmas basket will make a world of difference on Dec. 25.

To fill those baskets, the Christmas show will need a full house and we're sure, since it has always drawn one that it will do it again this year. Advance information indicates the entertainment will be worth your time.

Remember the date—Dec. 18. And the football banquet, you football fans, who got a thrill from watching the Tygers this fall, on the 15th.

Training for Peace.

AS THOUGHT-PROVOKING as anything we've seen lately is H. G. Wells' remark: "At the present educational level, world peace is an impossibility."

He means apparently that we can't have peace today because people are not educated up to it.

Not that the people in warlike nations are necessarily ignorant, in the ordinary sense. The German people, now being welded into the most effective military machine on earth, and heading straight for war, are probably as literate and well informed as any nation.

It isn't the quantity of education that's important, so much as the kind of education. Nations will not stop fighting other nations until they are educated for peace and against war. That is a kind of education which, to be effective, must start in the home and be continued in school and maintained through life.

Not that they shouldn't be taught how to fight, as long as fighting is necessary. But they should be carefully educated to understand that the peaceful life is best, that war is a destroyer and the "glory" of war is false, that the highest glory and achievement may be found in peace, that men must not fight except under intolerable provocation.

With this moral training there should be constructive training in the profitable arts of peace, and in policies easing international strain and stress—in greater interchange of goods, and civilized exchanges of all kinds.

What Dialers Want.

A RADIO EDITOR'S symposium, consisting of voluntary letters from "average dialers," boils down to this: Listeners, male and female, want less blah and more music. Here are typical comments:

"I neither need nor want any more ideas on how to make a lovely dessert out of noodles or how to torture the life out of cheese. There must be thousands of housewives who are sick and tired of plushy-voiced chatterers telling us how to run our homes. Why can't they broadcast more music during the day, and cut out infantile dramatics, cooks and advice-givers? As for Hollywood, I am weary of hearing about 'my new contract' and 'my latest picture'."

Another: "I have been wondering what has happened to our lovely musical programs which we formerly heard during the day. When once we set the dial, we could go ahead with our work without jumping up every fifteen minutes. But now, what do we get but drama, fifteen-minute sketches, for hours, until we're so filled up with the constant blah-blah that we never want to hear a radio again."

Still another: "I wish something could be done about those dramatic serials that clutter the air waves at present. I have to turn them off. Music is so much better and more cheerful."

Explaining It.

Wall Street control. Washington control.
Speculation. Lack of speculation.
Overproduction. Underproduction.
Criticism of business. Criticism of government
Large inventories. Small inventories.
Excessive credit. Inadequate credit.
Extravagance. Stinginess.
Economic planning. Lack of economic planning.
Profiteering. Lack of profits.
Communism. Fascism. Democracy.
It's all very illuminating.

Tip From Safest Driver.

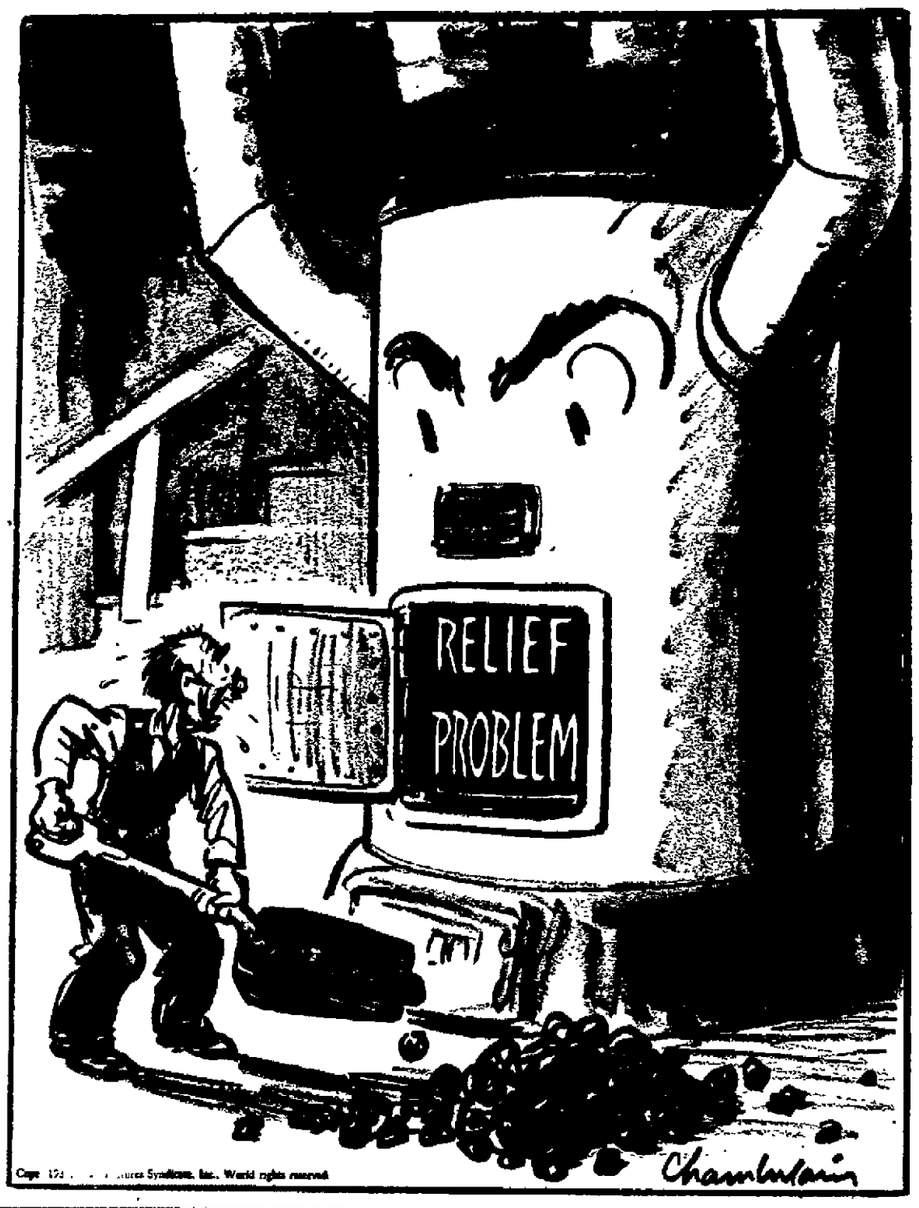
SOME special honor should go to Allen B. Hill of Texas, besides the honorable title of "world's safest truck driver" awarded him by the American Trucking association.

Mr. Hill has driven 1,400,000 miles, over a period of 30 years, without an accident or arrest. That's equal to nearly sixty times around the earth.

It's probably worth driving that far to gain his driving wisdom. He boils it down to this motto:

"Give all the road you can, and take all they'll give you."

LOOKS LIKE A HARD WINTER!



New Complications For U. S. In The Far East

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON—Each succeeding dispatch from the Orient brings worse news than the last one.

I mean worse news for Occidental countries with interests there.

The news is bad for the Chinese, too, but it has been bad for them all along. Now it hints that the Japanese are precipitating a situation which will affect Occidental nations seriously.

* * *

JAPAN'S NEXT STEP

It is all very well for America's peace advocates, for example, to argue that a war between two foreign powers, or among several of them, is none of Uncle Sam's business; that Uncle Samuel's proper policy is to remain neutral.

I myself feel that way about it. I sympathize with China against the mikado. I believe most of us do. Nevertheless, I agree that it is not our fight—as between Tokio and Nanking.

But I never heard a Yankee neutrality enthusiast contend that we should permit Japan to seize control, say, of the San Francisco city government, and remain neutral. And Japan is doing what virtually amounts to that in the Shanghai foreign settlement.

* * *

AMERICAN TERRITORY.

Shanghai is a very big city. Part of its area is purely Chinese.

The Japanese, having conquered that Chinese section, perhaps are entitled to it.

However, the foreign settlement is the essential part of the place. And the foreign settlement by treaty right, belongs to the Occidental nations. Uncle Sam has only a partnership right in it, but, so far as that right goes, foreign Shanghai is as much American soil as the corner of Broadway and Forty-Second street.

For whatever you may do as an American, within that settlement, you are answerable only to your American local consul court—not to any Chinese, Japanese or other authority. You are in the U. S. A., to all intents and purposes. You have your own American postoffice; your own American station to file transpacific cables. You are as free as a bird, subject to Yankee regulation.

Ditto other Occidental nationals.

* * *

JAPAN SUPREME?

Japan proposes to put a stop to this.

It proposes a Japanese censorship on American mails and cables. Japanese officialdom, it specifies, are to run the international settlement — the whole thing; not Chinese Shanghai only.

The mikado wants charge of the settlement's courts also.

Let international law "go hang" on such a basis.

* * *

CUSTOMS' SEIZURE, TOO

China has many international financial obligations (debts et cetera) to Occidental countries.

These settlements have been effected through the Shanghai custom house, Shanghai being China's chief port of entry. Foreign collectors have held jobs at the custom house to attend to their various nations' collections, which have been met punctually.

The custom house is in the international settlement. Japan has grabbed the custom house and is scooping in returns, regardless of the rights of other claimants.

It is not a mere threat. It is a confiscation of Occidental money.

* * *

WHERE IT HURTS

Japan does progress into Chinese territory—from Shanghai to Soochow, from Soochow to Nanking.

That does not so much matter to the remainder of the world.

But to have an important bit of territory taken away from Occidental countries?—to have their pockets picked of custom house receipts?—to have their mails and cables censored?—to have their citizens subjected to Japanese whimsies?

All that is irritating.

Timely Editorial

Why People Are Fired.

Most office workers lose their jobs through personality defects rather than lack of ability. Only 10 per cent are fired for incompetence. This was the report made to a commercial education convention in New York. A study had been made of 4,000 cases The chief causes of dismissal were carelessness, discourtesy, indifference, laziness, dishonesty, tardiness and disloyalty.

From this investigation one may assume that nine-tenths of the trouble employes have about dismissals, when the jobs are not ended by business recessions, is the workers' fault. This corresponds closely with the pointer given to graduate engineers recently by a vocational expert. He said success in that profession depends 10 per cent on technical skill and 90 per cent on ability to get along with people.—Toledo Blade

As Others See It

Discouraging.

Just listen to Olin Miller: Save your money for a rainy day and the government will tax it away from you to buy an umbrella for some loafer."—Toledo Blade.

DAILY BIBLE THOUGHT

APPEARANCE AND REALITY: Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye are like unto whited sepulchres, which indeed appear beautiful outward, but are within full of dead men's bones, and of all uncleanness. Even so ye also outwardly appear righteous unto men, but within ye are full of hypocrisy and iniquity. —Matthew 23.27, 28.

Keeping Step

By LESLIE EICHEL

IMAGINATION, TALENT, VISION, IDEAS! And understanding. The industrial world—both capital and labor—need that to get them out of the present stalemate.

That is the view of many who are observing developments at close hand.

And, added to the other desiradums, is home rule. Not home rule from Washington, as so many propagandists try to make out, but home rule from absentee management.

Otherwise—industry will continue to gravitate toward nationalization.

* * *

SEEKING A ROAD

Those who have lived in the midst of American industry all their lives—as has this writer—look with dismay and apprehension on its present frantic pawing of the air.

It is as if a prize fighter had grown old and now were battling straw men, with terrific sound and fury—all the while his family was starving out in the cold.

But America is young. The road to success still lies ahead. If there is murmuring and sudden strike among the young workers, is there any wonder? They see old men, or men old in ideas, from afar trying to impose aged ideas on young men. Thus youth sees no hope.

These word I write are not mere thoughts hastily jotted down from my own mind, but the result of hundreds of discussions with men who manage and men who work.

* * *

DISGUST

The attitude among men who work in regard to this current business setback is one of disgust and anger.

The distant managements use the same old words, the same old arguments against government and change.

And local officials and police merely add to the confusion and the misery.

While old-line union officials, still bent on mere organization and a modicum of union recognition, imagine that a solution of the impasse is none of their business.

Everybody, by his attitude, but chiefly because there is neither imagination nor broad-visioned talent devoted to a solution, is forcing nationalization.

Suppose, after all this ballyhoo concerning reduction of taxes on corporations and the government balancing the budget and keeping its hands out of business and Wall Street, the mills at Youngstown, at Pittsburgh, at Cleveland, at Chicago can lift their operations no more than a few points? That is entirely probable. But what then? Who has the answer then?

It must be remembered that, as against ancient historic times, it is the masses who are WITH the government, while the "nobles" oppose it.

* * *

ATTITUDE A PUZZLE

The industrial world is crying for imagination, an honest facing of realities and an effort at understanding.

A co-columnist, traveling in England, was told by English businessmen and Tory political leaders that they were amazed at the obstinacy of American business to accommodate itself to a changing world, for its own good.

That is doubly striking, for it was American business that led the world for several generations with its striking originality, its fearlessness and its eagerness to give opportunity to anyone who had originality.

* * *

UNINSPIRED

What has occurred? Have managements been too largely concentrated into a few hands in New York?

Local managements seem helpless, hopeless and—worst of all—uninspired. If they have solutions, they dare not voice them.

A member of one of the largest corporations in America told me that he so despaired of getting his department out of the rut that he wrote a letter of ruthless criticism to himself—to be forwarded on to the general management!

* * *

AN EXCEPTION

There are, of course, exceptions. The United States Steel corporation has had a remarkable "New Deal" of its own. It took the outstanding man of imagination in the steel industry—young Benjamin Fairless—from an independent and has catapulted him to the head of its vast organization. It reached an early and reasonable understanding with the CIO. It has had not the slightest "labor trouble," has renovated its plant at the cost of tens of millions of dollars (possibly hundreds of millions before the task has been completed and has paid its first common stock dividend in years. Furthermore, it again is able to compete in foreign markets.

Fairless, in the very depths of the depression, found new uses for steel. He also put in equipment that made it possible to manufacture more reasonably by substituting machines for men. When labor naturally protested, Fairless pointed out that by increasing the uses of steel, by reducing its cost, he was adding jobs, not destroying them. He was manager of an independent concern then. "Big Steel" slowly sensed that it needed this new blood.

Fairless is respected by workers because he has managed as one of them.

In a manner, Fairless is as much an experimenter in business as Roosevelt is in the presidency. Fairless, however, is more fortunately situated: he does not have to surrender or compromise—he is, by virtue of his ability to keep wheels moving, a czar.

* * *

SOCIAL

But beyond all the talent and ability and imagination that keep wheels moving or reduces costs and add jobs, there is needed in business as well as in government men who have understanding of the vast social and economic changes of the age.

Young America Asks—

Should Children Have An Allowance?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

ALLOWANCES—
Do young people need 'em?
Is school life humiliating and "practically impossible" without them?

Here's a problem which is raising ructions in many a home. Some parents will say—"We didn't have allowances when we were school-children,—why should youngsters demand them today?" But the situation isn't identical.

Forty years ago—even twenty—most young people were still dependent on dad's purse...But TODAY THOUSANDS OF BOYS AND GIRLS OF 'TEEN AGE ARE FINANCIALLY INDEPENDENT. This has inevitably raised the Standard of Living for Juniors. Willy Nilly, the youngster without an allowance, is in daily association with the well-heeled lad or lass.

"So what?" asked Edith Mack. Has or hasn't the Young Generation a right to its weekly remittance?

"IT CERTAINLY HAS!" says Dorothy Mack of New York City.

"My own High School days (Wadleigh '36) were made miserable through lack of an allowance. I don't mean to be a selfish ingrate. I admit my mother couldn't afford to give me one. She was struggling to support two daughters and a chronically invalid husband. But all this didn't lessen my own humiliation.

"In High School life it's so important to 'rate' or 'be regular.' I didn't. I was constantly left out of school activities and developed an embittered feeling of inferiority as a result. For instance, I couldn't afford to buy the H. S. sweater or pin—which go so far toward building school loyalty. My full luncheon for one whole term consisted of one cup of ice cream—for I was too proud to bring a homemade lunch and too poor to purchase more than that.

"Naturally my friends asked why I didn't attend the school activities. Rather than explain that I didn't have the admission price—and to forestall any charitable offers from them—I pretended indifference toward such activities, which naturally gave me a strange name. Graduation with its many expenses was a nightmare. My pity wouldn't let me burden my mother—my pride forbade my appealing to the Student Aid. No one but a young person can understand my misery. If parents could only realize the position they put their children in, they'd never refuse allowances."

Dorothy Mack—Age 18,
New York City.
($10 Prize Winner.)

If you're a parent, you'll say that Dorothy's "pride" was "cockeyed nonsense." And, judged by mature standards, it was. But neither Dorothy nor her generation are responsible for this. We elders, who permit High School years to be filled with such expensive demands, such unreasonable extravagances, are to blame. Also, we in our own LUXURY LOVING HABITS foster this attitude we condemn. No child should have to face such a test of character — NO CHILD WOULD FACE IT IF WE, OURSELVES, USED SENSE.

"AN ALLOWANCE TEACHES YOU NOT ONLY THE VALUE OF MONEY," says Margaret Slinn of Gross Pointe Park, Mich., "BUT IT ALSO BUILDS INITIATIVE AND PRIDE."

Since I had my allowance I certainly have learned more about the value of money than all the lectures ever taught me before. I'm allowed $3.50 per wek—and I certainly count every cent. This covers all my transportation expenses, my lunches, my yearly Student Association Tickets, my books, paper, lab fees, etc. Also my clothing. I even bought my own formal and have learned to sew, too. I love to shop for myself and would rather go without than have to turn to anyone else and accept their taste."

Margaret Slinn—Aged 16,
Grosse Pointe Park, Mich.
($10 Prize Winner.)

We wish we had more space to print Margaret's interesting, detailed report of how she used her allowance, but this shows, at least, how deeply it has helped her character.

* * *

MARY ANN TODARO of Monessen, Pa., however, doesn't believe in allowances—says "YOU CAN ALWAYS DEPEND ON YOUR PARENTS FOR MONEY." We're printing Mary Ann's letter, not because we agree with it, but because it's an unhappy example of the sort of intolerance and ignorance which often blights young minds—even those as bright and sincere as Mary's obviously is.

"When students have an allowance," says she, "they usually spend their money foolishly upon receiving it, and then, when they really need it, they are 'broke.' When you have no allowance, you can always depend upon your parents for the money—it doesn't matter what it is to be used for.

"A HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT OF ANY SENSE WOULDN'T FIND HERSELF IN THE EMBARRASSING POSITION OF BEING PENNILESS THAT EDITH MENTIONS, IF SHE KNEW IN ADVANCE HOW MUCH SHE NEEDED. AFTER ALL, SHE KNOWS WHAT IS GOING ON AT SCHOOL!

"When I graduated from high school as Salutatorian of our class in May 1937, I was selected the "most popular girl" by my classmates, and I had no allowance. I am working now, saving money, and although I can never repay my father for what he has spent for me, I can and will help him immensely."

Mary Ann Todaro—Age 17,
Monessen, Pa.,
($5 Prize Winner.)

You're due for a sad surprise, little girl, and I hope it comes in time to help you. Thousands, yes millions, of young people CAN'T DEPEND ON THEIR PARENTS FOR EVEN DECENT FOOD OR CLOTHING. This should make you appreciate your own luck the more and—let's hope—regret your uppity and unfair attitude. Want to prove you're a game sport? Then take that $5 and SPEND IT ON SOME POOR KID WHO HASN'T A POCKETBOOK BEHIND HER.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

"Not Worth His Salt."

It is generally assumed that the reference in the expression "not worth his salt" is to the cheapness of salt, the implication being that to be not worth his salt is to be not worth anything at all.

Only in a sense is this conception valid; for it has left out of account the long travels that most of our commonest idioms have undertaken before reaching our day, and how far beneath the surface lies their original and real significance.

The phrase "not worth his salt" was born in ancient Rome. Then salt was expensive rather than cheap, an important and not the more or less unthought of commodity that it is with us today.

In those days salt served as money; it was a sort of subsidiary currency and constituted the salarium (from which we get our English word salary) paid to the Roman soldier for his services.

To be not worth his salt then, therefore, denoted intrinsically to be not worth his wages. At that time it was a literal statement.

Everyday Poems

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

Memory of One Night.

The star came early on that night,
I still remember it,
The early dark that followed close,
The tall white candles lit.

Strange how the mind goes searching things
Of one sharp bitter hour.
And brings them back in picturing,
That gives an added power.

To memory of old defeat,
A poignant time long past.
Strange how the smallest detail is Held clear and deep and fast.

That was the night we broke our troth,
And went our separate ways—
We who had pledged fidelity
To love for all our days.

TODAY IS—

Monday, Nov. 29; Hanukkah—Kisley 25, 5698 in Jewish calendar. National holiday in Panama — observance of Independence day. This week's zodiac sign: Sagittarius.

McIntyre's New York Day by Day

I the manner of Arnold Bennett's journal: M. was telling of a house-keeping service that solved a neighbor's problem: It furnishes personally trained servants, a supervisor maps out their duties and comes in weekly to check up. A relieved, harried housewife gained 9 pounds in a month.

A fire-side sum-up of the cinematic art: My cousin cannot abide two of the top ranking stars. I am inclined to pass up films focusing the charm of Robert Montgomery. Our cook has a violent antipathy to Leslie Howard. All of us, however, like the roguish Patsy Kelly.

The so-widely hailed "I'd Rather Be Right" show reveals how a sterling player can save a performance. Without George M. Cohan and his bow to good taste it would be a cynical and meantempered travesty. As it is, it arrived just a little too extravagantly ballyhooed.

Save at the groggeries of Ben Riley and Jack Dempsey, one rarely sees those autographed photo halls of fame any more. The most interesting of all was at Browne's old chop house, below 42d street. I had a grand chuckle over a copy of Punch today. Spontaneously mellow wit without sneers.

I am too much a back number to have at command the proper name of those dinguses the upper-claw-ses use following the golf matches or watching the horses. A sort of combination walking stick and seat. Titled Englishers use them at the shoots. A recent week I saw a plushy lady carrying one along with a copy of the Atlantic Monthly at one of the tracks. I may be unnecessary currish but I had a feeling she was showing the magazine too much.

There was a jolly dinner with some English folk at Locust Valley the other night. A family over from England just eight months. Bringing along their butler, an owlish specimen called McAuliffe with a sway back, stiff-elbowed carriage, who, with an easy simplicity of magnificence announced the guests formally. The dishes were thoroughly British—meat pies, puddings, etc. Someone told of a hotel on 116th street, across from President Butler's, called the King's Crown, where many from England put up — especially the hidebound who think much of America is a trifle too modern, showy and all that.

Once in London I stopped at Rosa Lewis's hospice on Jermyn street. Rosa, of course, was always in evidence—chaffing with patrons, sharing a sip of champagne at this and that table and rattling off clippity-clip a continuous volley of salty observations. Karl Kitchen had discovered Rosa long before, as a royal cook, she was exploited over here by publishers of her book, and he suggested I stop there. A friend of Karl's became a star boarder automatically. But residing there was something akin to having a cot in the middle of Dinty Moore's.

My hotel taste runs largely to those pleasantly perched inns in New England. Lawns dotted with whitewashed rocks, parlor sitting rooms, and motherly types presiding over the dining room. They are found only in the smaller cities. Meals are plain but extraordinarily well cooked and seasoned. Such desserts as hot ginger bread with whipped cream, stale cake with lemon sauce, rice pudding with raisins, pumpkin pies and Brown Betty. All the elegant dishes that have given way in the large cities to such flamboyant goo as parfaits, crepes Suzette and profiteroles. In New England, too, they serve a well chilled glass of sweet milk with your cut of pie. And a nubbin of yellow rat trap cheese.

I have a sneaking sympathy for unfortunate souls caught turning in fire alarms falsely. I rarely pass one without an overwhelming urge to break the glass and skeedaddle. In a big office building in Rector street one day I looked about furtively and actually fingered the little hammer attached to a chain while my pulse did a swell job of imitating Bill Robinson tapping up the stairs. Just a Tom Boy! Nor can I stand on a railroad platform and watch a train glide in without experiencing an almost irresistable tug to leap in front of it. I have often wondered if many with no thought whatever of suicide have not given away to sudden impulse. And a split second are flinging themselves from the high parapet. Now in such exigencies I have my wife, who does not concea' a sort of bored resignation, hold me by the hand.

THE STATE vs. ELNA JEPSON

By NANCY BARR MAVITY

(Copyright 1937)

CHAPTER XXVI.

"Nothing!" Mrs. Gorham stamped in. "Or rather I am being held on duty for search of the room."

"That is no longer necessary, and I am sure you must be tired. If Mrs. Nielson is willing to go on duty a half hour earlier than usual, I am sure you will be grateful. Everything is in order, I assure you." Dr. Grayson was suave. "And now, Mrs. Gorham and I may depart, our duties done."

The lights had been extinguished when Elna felt a hand, from a figure crawling along the floor, touch her hand gently.

"Awake?"

Elna pressed Rose's hand. She scarcely noticed the hot-water bottle slipped between her feet.

Rose's voice was gentle. "I will tell you this," she said. "I don't tell many people. I was a trained nurse once. I worked for a doctor that I loved. It was what is called an illegal practice. Dr. Grayson is trying to make me a nurse again. He gives me cases here, and in the end he will give me more outside, people who don't require registered nurses."

"I?"

"Yes, you." Rose's eyes shone in the dark. "The greatest responsibility I have ever had. You did a very foolish thing in bringing in the powder. It might have caused genuine trouble. How do you know what other things the girls have hidden?"

"I'll throw it away," Elna whispered.

"And spoil the treat you promised? No, I'll teach the girls to use it so lightly that Gorham won't notice, yet they'll have the softness, the fragrance."

"I meant well." Elna's voice trembled. "I suppose that is the worst thing to say of everybody."

"They usually make the most mistakes," Rose agreed seriously. "My business, if I take this case, is to teach you to make fewer mistakes—to learn from the girls that you can always meet bumps of life without thinking they were the worst bumps in the world—to send you to your trial looking at the real world. You'll keep on making mistakes and meaning well, but maybe they won't cause so much trouble for other people. This won't be a speech again. You will talk to the girls, listen to them, watch them—and learn some common sense.

'Do you want to take a spoonful of this medicine? Dr. Grayson left it for you to make you sleep tonight."

Elna leaned forward, her figure barred by the light from the hall. "Why, of course. You are my nurse, aren't you? Dr. Grayson approves of you."

She opened he mouth wide, then snuggled into the bed. Drowsily she thought she must learn to face an outside world. She must not make the mistake of meaning well, because it always came out wrong unless she knew the "ropes." She must tell that to Roger when he managed to see her.

* * *

It was the first day of Elna's trial for murder. She sat quietly, almost indifferently, at the counsel table, as if she had sat all her life there, with McClung at her left and the district attorney with his assistant at her right.

Just before court opened she had come from a last conference with McClung, who had begged her to confide the whole truth to him.

"Surely you know it," she answered, hoping to trap him into a hint that Roger had been advising him behind the scenes. Always she sought that hope in every word.

McClung hung his head. When he lifted it, his eyes were sad and honest.

"I can't do what a man like Roger Ainswoth would do with this case," he said. "I'm not clever. He'd find holes in the prosecution, plug them, make them law-proof, and by the time you testified to them, you'd believe them yourself. I could help you in that way only if you trusted me. But I promise you that I'll sit up nights trying to do my best—"

"I'm not playing fair with you," Elna said to McClung, "but we'll do our best together anyhow. I cannot change my story. But in one way you are greater than Roger Ainsworth. You'd rather work to win the case of an innocent client than by brilliant and legal fireworks free a guilty one to show your skill. There is one thing I want you to know. It won't help your law, but it may help your spirits. You have only my word for it, but it is true. I am not guilty." She held out her hand, and felt encouragement in McClung's clasp just as they were called to court.

As she preceded McClung down the steps of the county jail to which she had removed, her old admiration of Roger flashed across her mind. Maybe he had a strategy of appearing as a witness in her defense—no, even if that were so, he would have let her know that he had some plan for her.

She glared, unseeing at the judge. She had merely misjudged Roger, she thought. All the emotional quality that had clung about him fell away. But if his god were personal victory, it must not vanquish her own god of loyalty. Besides, she reflected, his help at this stage without any proof would not do her any good.

* * *

This sudden right-about to common sense brought a smile. To her astonishment, the judge smiled cautiously back and even bowed slightly. Judge Ashton was owner of one of the greater, personally supervised Jepson houses, and remembered a long-legged, black-haired child scampering around the scaffolding. More clearly he remembered Oscar Jepson, whom no one ever seemed to forget.

* * *

It was hard for him to try this case. His face was stern as the trial progressed, but he slipped a glance now and again at the defendant.

"Egad," he said in the privacy of his chambers, "that girl has the Jepson pride and the Jepson chin and the Jepson will to stick to folly. I'll sentence her if the law requires—but I'll never believe she did a mean, horrible thing. "Bright, too! She handled some of that prosecution examination remarkably well, and led poor McClung to the right cross-examination as if he were born to it. Handled both sides of it, mind you, without a trip-up!"

Elna sat very straight, her hands in her lap, in the defense chair. She knew now that, except for routine exceptions, she was handling her case almost entirely alone.

The police ground was familiar. She had coached McClung on a brief and sarcastic cross-examination, as if policemen always found what they wanted. That part was hopeless, she knew.

The next witness, who gave her name as Violet Smith, was asked whether the defendant had ever shown signs of a violent nature.

"Oh, indeed yes! I was afraid of my life, really." Violet turned confidentally to the jury. "It was this way. I was temporary maid to Miss Jepson—that was in the old Jepson house—and I happened to break an old purple piece of glass, and Miss Jepson caught me putting the pieces away and she flew at me something awful. I thought she was about to kill me, and I left at the end of the week."

Elna's bewilderment turned to understanding, then to anger which brought her to her feet with blazing eyes.

"Why, you silly girl, you know perfectly well I told you that was rare glass, one of Father's precious pieces, and that if you were so careless, you must leave at the end of week. If you feared for your life, why did you stay?"

* * *

The assistant district attorney was about to rush to the bench to warn the judge, who had withdrawn his attention, with one ear open for objections, to lean sidewise and chat with a visiting judge from another county.

"And you were very angry on this occasion, Miss Jepson?" The question from the district attorney caused his assistant to halt.

"Yes, almost as angry as I am now—but you notice, I'm not doing anything about it but talk."

"What's all this? What's all this?" Judge Ashton whirled on his big leather chair.

"Your honor, the defendant addressed a witness in this court." The district attorney had turned red with discomfiture.

"Was my attention not called to this breach of procedure? Was any objection made to this alleged irregularity, Mr. Daniels?"

"No, your honor, there wasn't time—"

"When I turned, it appeared you were conversing with the defendant in the manner of questioning a witness. I don't know what the defendant's attorney was doing all this time."

11 DIE IN OHIO TRAFFIC; FOUR INJURED HERE

Akron Woman Seriously Hurt as Auto Rams Parked Truck Near Jeromesville.

While Ohio counted a week-end traffic toll of 11, Mansfield and Richland county was free of fatal accidents but General hospital records today showed four persons injured in mishaps in Mansfield and vicinity.

Most serious of those in the General hospital was Mrs. Joseph Maytner, 35, and Mrs. Harry J. Halper, 38, both of Akron, who were brought to the hospital early yesterday morning in a Chicago-bound Greyhound bus after the car in which they were riding had rammed a truck parked on the highway, between Jeromesville and Wooster.

Mrs. Maytner suffered a possible skull fracture and Halper, several fractured ribs. Their condition was reported as fair. The other passengers in the car, Mr. Maytner and Mrs. Halper were treated for cuts and bruises and released. Police said they were enroute from Mansfield to Akron.

Auto Hits Pedestrians.

Rufus A. Kern, 608 Park avenue west is in the General hospital with a possible leg fracture, suffered when he and Mrs. Kern were struck by a motorist as they were crossing North Mulberry street at Park avenue at 7 p. m. yesterday.

Both were taken to the hospital in an ambulance. Mrs. Kern was treated for cuts about the legs and then sent home. Kern's condition was reported as "good" today.

John Richey, 49, 199 Wayne street, was in Samaritan hospital in Ashland, suffering from a scalp injury received when he was struck by a motorist while walking on route 42, near the Ashland county fairgrounds last night.

Sheriff H. F. Wallet reported that Richey had been walking south on the road to telephone for help to repair his disabled car. Robert Sawyer, Geneva, said the lights of an oncoming car blinded him temporarily and he saw Richey too late to avoid hitting him.

State highway patrolmen reported that a car driven by Forrest Zellner, 18 Martha avenue, East Mansfield, turned over on route 42, five miles south of Ashland Saturday night when the driver failed to negotiate a turn in the road. The driver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Zellner, suffered a fractured collar bone. Edward Scott, 26, 11 Harmon avenue, a passenger, received cuts on his forehead.

Bikes Hit Cars.

Two bicycle riders received minor injuries when they collided with automobiles on slippery streets Saturday night.

H. L. Frick, 197 Helen avenue, told police that his car was struck by a bicycle ridden by Ansel Lucas, 316 Harkerstreet, as he was making a turn He reported the bicycle damaged but the boy uninjured.

C. Howard, 344 East Second street, reported that his car was struck by a cyclist at the intersection of North Mulberry street and West Fourth street. He said the boy, Robert Sellers, 14, of 275 West Fifth street, suffered a bruised leg.

Near Middletown yesterday, Donald Deneen, 21, son of Mayor Lawrence Deneen of Monroe, was instantly killed when the car he was driving collided with a truck.

Ten-year-old James Mart, of Springfield was crushed to death between two autos near Washington Courthouse.

An auto plunged over an embankment, struck a tree and turned over east of Dayon, killing Thearle Hopkins, 26, and Orville Casey, both of Bellbrook.

URGES U. S. TO STRENGTHEN ITS MILITARY FORCE

Woodring Points to Actual And Threatened Conflicts In Foreign Nations.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A general strengthening of American military forces was recommended today by Secretary of War Harry Woodring as a precautionary measure required by "actual and threatened conflicts shattering or endangering the peace of at least one-fourth of the people of the world."

The American army is now more efficient than at any time in its peacetime history, Woodring said in his annual report to the president, but requires some strengthening to fill up deficiencies and to assure adequate national defense. For this purpose, he said, more men and equipment would be required, particularly for the air force and anti-aircraft defenses.

Says U. S. 'Weaker.'

He pointed out the great additions being made to the military machines of most rather large nations, and said that in comparison the United States is "relatively weaker."

Summing up his report, Woodring recommended that:

"The number of commissioned officers of the regular army should be increased by about 2,300 to approximately 14,500. This should be done by adding about 500 officers each year for four or five years.

"The enlisted strength of the regular army should be recruited up to the authorized strength of 165,000 and maintained at that strength during the next year . . .

"The national guard should be recruited up to 210,000 officers and men.

"At least 30,000 reserve officers should be given two weeks' active duty training each year.

"The number of youths receiving training at citizens' military training camps each year should be increased from 30,000 to 50,000.

"There should be at least 120,000 active reserve officers available for assignment. This strength may be best obtained through the increase of the number of reserve officers' training corps units in our colleges.

"A reserve of 150,000 enlisted specialists to be recruited to this strength over a period of years should be authorized."

Jap Troops Smash China's 'Second Hindenburg Line'

OPEN UP NEW PATH TO REACH NANKING GATES

Armies Advance Half Way From Shanghai to Capital; Wutsin Falls.

SHANGHAI—(U.P.)—The Chinese "second Hindenburg line," last important barrier in the path of the Japanese advance on Nanking, was broken today.

A Japanese army spokesman asserted that the advance forces had occupied Wutsin in the drive which brought the Japanese more than halfway from Shanghai to Nanking.

He added that an attack on Kiangyin, where strong Chinese forts are located, would be started soon. Airplanes bombed the forts, he said, and declared that they would not be able to hold out long.

All Would Fall.

The last vestige of the Chinese defenses, running from Kiangyin to Wusih, would vanish with the occupation of Kiangyin, he declared.

Few fortifications remain between Nanking's outer defenses and Kiangyin, a distance of approximately 70 miles

After occupying Wutsin the Japanese advance guard moved on toward Nanking along the Shanghai-Nanking rail line.

The Japanese were in possession of two excellent arteries, the Shanghai-Nanking railroad and the NangKing-Hangchow highway from Ihing.

The advancing forces were expected shortly to open the Kianghyin boom which would enable the Japanese transports and warships to proceed up the Yangtse river.

Capture Ihing.

The Japanese earlier crossed Lake Tai without encountering resistance and occupied Ihing. The town is near Kwangteh, 100 miles due south of Nanking and 45 miles northwest of Hangchow. After its occupation, the advance forces there joined other columns en route from Changshing to Nanking along the Nanking-Hanchow highway.

Chinese reports said that Japanese planes had bombed a passenger train at Hsuancheng, in Anhwei province, killing at least 40 persons and wounding more than 100

Meanwhile, the Japanese strengthened their hold on Shanghai, including the International Settlement and the French concession They took over control of all communications facilities but moved cautiously in the face of United States and British representations in assuming control of the Chinese customs.

Roosevelt Boards Yacht For Week's Fishing Cruise

A warm sun broke through the mist as he was piped over the side of the 165-foot former navy patrol boat, its rails manned by sailors in service whites.

Biscayne Bay fishermen said the coastal water was rough, but just about right for sail fishing.

The new 1850-ton destroyer Selfridge, its white uniformed officers and crew also at the rails, moved out into the bay to escort the president and his seven fishing companions, including Secretary Ickes, Robert H. Jackson, assistant attorney general, and Harry L. Hopkins, relief administrator.

The president drove in an open car to the dock from his special train. A crowd lined up in an express shed and around the depot applauded as he came down his special ramp.

On the dock, before he boarded the Potomac, James M. Cox of Ohio, Florida publisher and 1920 Democratic presidential candidate, entered the president's car and chatted for several minutes.

Aviation offers a decided advantage to hunters, according to Walter L. Beckley. The other day "Beck," with Earl Saltzgaber, William Ingram, and Glenn Gages, hopped into Gages' plane and in 45 minutes were at Put-in Bay In an hour they had bagged three pheasants and two rabbits and had headed home. The return journey took 55 minutes, as they stopped at Sandusky for sandwiches and while there a federal game inspector gave the plane the once-over. Anyway the entire trip and hunting took a little less than three hours.

Ira Bronson wants his coat back—he's been wearing one much too large for him ever since last week's Kiwanis meeting, because whoever took his by mistake was a larger man than Ira. Bronson offers, in the way of clues, the fact that there was about 50 feet of tape in one pocket of the coat that was left for him, and a pair of cream colored gloves in the other. He says he has gloves of his own as well as a tape line, but he would like to get his coat back.

Ordinarily when county commissioners are asked to loan the county's road roller, they comply without much comment, but when a request came from R. O. Darling, contractor, asking for use of the roller on the Remy avenue job, commissioners couldn't resist comment. Remy avenue, you'll remember, is the street where the sidewalks are three feet above the pavement. Commissioners wanted to know whether the roller was to be used for sidewalk or paving—but even a roller won't get the sidewalks down to grade.

MRS. ROOSEVELT TOURS MINING TOWNS WITH TOBACCO HEIRESS

MORGANTOWN, W. Va.—(AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Doris Duke Cromwell motored from the rolling hills of West Virginia today to industrial Western Pennsylvania on an inspection trip of homestead projects and mining settlements.

The ation's first lady and "the world's richest girl" headed for a homestead project conducted by the friends service committee near Brownsville, in Pennsylvania's sprawling bituminous coal region.

The Brownsville district, like some of the area the party covered yesterday, depends upon coal for its principal industry. There thousands of miners were unemployed during the depression years, but in normal times smoke hangs heavy over the hills and coke ovens twinkle like fire flies in the night.

The heiress to the Duke tobacco millions saw yesterday the poverty of a mining village and, in contrast, the comparative luxury of modern, adequate life on a government homestead at nearby Arthurdale. Neither sight was new to Mrs Roosevelt, a frequent visitor to homestead projects in West Virginia.

Squalor in dusty, unpainted houses perched side by side on the hills overlooking the mine pits greeted them at the little settlement of Osage, where sulphur-colored Scott's Run twists between the hills.

There Mrs Cromwell, who recently inherited more millions of her late father's huge estate, visited in the two-room shack of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Campbell.

Campbell, an unemployed miner, supports his six children on WPA wages and sends three of them to school, although they are unable to buy books.

"We are supposed to pay $5 a month rent for our house, but we haven't paid for two or three months now," the miner's wife told Mrs. Roosevelt.

DRIVER SEIZED, SHOTS FIRED AT VEHICLE'S TIRES

Federal Conciliator Resumes Peace Conference; Reports 'Progress Has Been Made.'

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Violence grew today in the Greyhound bus strike with abduction of a driver and shots fired at or near a bus on the highway, while a federal conciliator's joint conference with both sides continued here.

Police questioned the abducted and returned driver and nearly a score of other men at Pittsburgh early today.

Wilbur Glassbrenner, 26, a non-striking driver, reported to police that four men picked him up last night as he was about to enter his bus at a North Pittsburgh station. They took him to a house and urged him to sign up to join the strike. He reclined and walked out without interference, he said.

Police raided the house and took 20 men into custody. Glassbrenner said he could not identify any of them.

Shots Fired At Bus.

Ohio highway police reported that shots were fired at or near a Greyhound bus 10 miles west of Warren.

Police expressed the belief that the shots were fired at the bus tires. None struck the bus, however. There were 31 passengers aboard on the run from Pittsburgh to Cleveland.

Federal Labor Conciliator John L. Conner met with Ivan Bowen, attorney for the Greyhound companies, and T. J. McGrath, attorney for the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, for nearly ten hours yesterday and then continued the joint session today.

Conner said "progress has been made" and expressed hope for an early settlement.

The brotherhood, which has been declared sole bargaining agent for the drivers, has demanded a closed shop and wage increases. Union leaders continued to claim the strike "nearly 100 per cent" effective among 1,300 drivers.

Officials of nine Greyhound Bus companies from the Mississippi river to the Atlantic coast continued to maintain that operations were not greatly hampered, with service suspended only in Boston and Philadelphia.

The Great Game of Politics

—By FRANK R. KENT

Weight of the Billions.

BEFORE another vast "agricultural relief" bill, the provisions of which no one understands and neither the cost nor the effect of which anyone can estimate, is enacted by congress, through pressure from the president and the farm lobby, it may be worth while to present some outstanding facts concerning the expense and extent of the government's efforts to "help the farmer." A compilation of these facts was made recently by an astute correspondent, Mr. Ashmun Brown, of the Providence Journal.

IT IS certainly true, for example, that under the New Deal the department of agriculture has become an enormous government within the government. Great edifices have been erected in Washington for the housing of its many ramifications. Part time and full time more than 100,000 men scattered all over the country are on the pay roll, with 12,000 of them concentrated in Washington. With the single exception of relief it distributes more money than any other two government agencies, and its propaganda activities, ranging from the ordinary press agent output to great radio and moving-picture programs, is the most elaborate and expensive ever devised by a nation at peace.

AS A political force, the AAA machine, with units in practically every county, is rated by observers as the most effective of all time. Its organization is infinitely greater than both party committees combined, better financed, disciplined and directed. When to the machinery is added the "gentle rain of checks" with which the farmers have been drenched steadily since 1933, the potentialities of this setup are hard to exaggerate. Then pending bill, if enacted, will greatly enhance its size, cost and political potency, which is one reason administration politicians are so anxious to get it through before the spring primaries.

IN VIEW of the extraordinary vagueness about the amount annually involved, with which everybody concerned with this bill, including its committee sponsors who reported it and Mr. Wallace's bright young men who drew it, is affected, it seems timely to give a few figures as to the money spent on "helping the farmer" since 1934. In the fiscal year 1935, 1936, 1937 and through the first four fiscal months of 1938, the government has spent for farm relief three billion dollars, of which more than $2,600,000,000 has been charged to the so-called emergency and relief budget and more than $300,000,000 to the regular budget. From July 1 to October 1 expenditures of $42,817,857., an increase of $4,000,000 over last year, are shown in the regular budget, while the emergency budget shows expenditures of $191,055,809, a total of $233,873,666

THE largest item in the emergency disbursements this year is $61,416,046 paid out by the Farm Security administration, which is the new name under which the AAA payments of subsidies to farmers are conducted. "All these figures," says Mr. Brown, "are if anything lower than actualities, for the treasury statement from which they are taken has farm-relief items scattered all over the place and it is almost impossible to get a correct total." It is clear, however, that nearly a billion dollars a year has been regularly expended for all purposes by the department since 1934. Twenty-five years ago the total amount appropriated for all purposes was $20,000,000.

IT WAS about 1914 that the political parties began to compete with each other in the matter of making promises to the farmer. The farm bloc was formed and the funds began to pour out. Congressional appropriations for farm purposes steadily rose until, by 1931, the department was spending $128,000,000, exclusive of road building. But the big jump came with the New Deal For three years we have been on a billion-dollar basis. In other words, we are spending today about seven times as much to help the farmer as we did five years ago and fifty times as much as we did twenty-five years ago. The apparent purpose of the new bill is to freeze this situation so that this billion dollar distribution to the farmers will become permanently fixed. The lowest guess as to the cost of the pending proposal is half a billion; it may run above a billion.

WHERE THE money is to come from so far no one has seemed to know. Obviously, it must be raised by some form of processing tax, which is in effect a sales tax upon food, bound to increase its cost to the consumer and weigh most heavily upon the poorest people. And there isn't the slightest certainty that with all this the scheme will work any better than the AAA or that the farmer himself will be any better off in the end. With a billion a year going out for farm relief, a year going out for farm relief, a billion and a half a year for unemployment relief, more than a billion to the veterans, and more than a billion to pay the interest on a thirty-eight billion national debt, it is not surprising that men in Washington, fighting to get the nation back on an even keel, are appalled at the awful weight of the load and the magnitude of the job. And probably the most fallacious and absurd idea promoted in this period is that the great taxes which these billions make necessary come from the rich. That is a joke. The great bulk of the taxes are indirect hidden taxes and they are paid by everybody who eats, drinks, smokes, writes letters and wears clothes.

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—All work and no play makes jack—for Uncle Sam, say some of the colony's best paid stars.

Keeping their incomes out of the higher tax brackets, where the cash residue from excess earnings scarcely balances in the stellar mind with a nice three months' vacation, has become a serious game with these folks. This game joins with the usual professional reason—fewer pictures bring longer screen life—to make these stars extremely choosy about the pictures they'll do.

One cause or the other usually both, accounts for limited screen appearances of such people as Claudette Colbert, Garbo, Dietrich, William Powell, Ronald Colman, Irene Dunne.

These, under contract or on their own, are "shopping" for vehicles. They'll take the ones they think you'll favor when you shop for pictures to see.

And so the producers, each trying to lure a big fish with choice bait, are shopping for vehicles—better stories, better production, bigger and better pictures to get valuable names on their respective dotted lines Colbert commits herself to Warner Bros for a picture, but she doesn't visit for a run-of-the-mill vehicle She takes "Tovarich," important enough for Kay Francis to sue about William Powell's been talking new deal with Metro, and he'll protect himself against future "Double Weddings" or I miss. Ronald Colman, elusive to producers as in private life, signed with Roach for "Fancy Free" Knowing nothing of the story, I'm content that it's pretty good—else Colman wouldn't take it. Grace Moore, with a picture to do at Columbia, skipped town—she didn't like her vehicle.

Hollywood, often described as a state of mind, or a town without boundaries, recently acquired city limits as an outgrowth of the forgotten Culver City-Hollywood name dispute.

Mme. Kirsten Flagstad, of the Met, couldn't come to Hollywood in time, so Paramount sent a set and crew to New York to get her scenes for "Big Broadcast."

"Background crews" are everywhere, canning scenery to be shipped to Hollywood, revived through the trick process screen on Hollywood stages.

For Gala Holiday Nights
